MASTER'S MESSAGE

Master Associate Professor Goh Beng Lan

I am pleased to sum up activities and developments for Academic Year (AY) 2013/14. It was an eventful year with major changes at the hall. Firstly, there was a change in Master-ship as well as faculty and staff composition. I took over as the new Master as from 2nd January 2014 following the completion of A/P Tan Tin Wee's ten-year old term as Master. At the same time, the hall saw the departure of Prof Adekunle Adeyeye, the Resident Fellow of Block E, as he went on to become the Master for Ridge View Residential College, a new residential college to be set up on Kent Ridge Campus. In turn, the hall welcomed Dr Lee Chian Chau as the new Resident Fellow of Block C.

At the office front, we saw the retirement of Mr Lim Siew Poon alongside the recruitment of three new staff: Nisha, Abidah and Maryann.

As a means of summing up the AY, let me highlight important, meaningful and new events at the hall. I shall begin with major events. On November 15, 2013, students, colleagues and alumni came together to give a warm send-off to A/P Tan and his family. Soon after the festivities of the New Year, on 6th February, the hall held its annual Eusoff Alumni Reunion Dinner. During this event, the Eusoff 55th Anniversary Book, entitled, "Keeping the Torch Ablaze" was launched alongside a donation drive for the 55th Eusoff Anniversary Bursary. The establishment of a bursary to commemorate Eusoff's 55th Anniversary is aimed at providing an additional resource for residents who require financial support.

As in the past, the hall had its share of meaningful achievements last year. The Eusoff Green Committee did the hall proud when it won the AY2013/14 Inter-Hall Environmental Award - an award which was conferred by NUS President during NUS Excellence Day on 19 February. The annual Dance Production was another resounding success. Coinciding with Valentine's Day, this AY's drama and dance production, appropriately titled "Love is a Place", vowed its audience. The performance received many accolades from external SCRC members, guests and friends. The DP Team had pushed excellence a notch higher through their amazing performance.

In the IHG games, Eusoff lost its championship title and took the second runners-up spot. Despite this slip in position, what's heartening was that Eusoffians lived up to the spirit of our IHG motto for the year to "Never Back Down!" Our athletes displayed great discipline and integrity throughout all matches. Not surprisingly, the Sportsman of the Year award (a new award given by the Convening Hall this year) was won by a Eusoffian.

Another meaningful event was the EVC's Chinese New Year lunch for the elderly at the Red Star Restaurant on 22nd February 2014. Apart from lucky draws and gifts - made possible by the fundraising efforts of the EVC Team - the elderly were especially treated to a lion dance. The hall is deeply prideful of the spirit of voluntarism among Eusoffians where students are mindful about the less fortunate in our society and willingly sacrifice their time each week to render service to the elderly, orphans and mentally challenged communities.

Besides the usual year-round activities, several new initiatives were introduced last AY. As part of a growing pedagogical emphasis on purposeful learning at the university, the hall introduced a credit bearing academic module in the Second Semester. This is a historical event as it is the first time in the hall's history that it ran its own module. From now onwards, this module, GEK1066 "Engaging the natural environment in ASEAN", will be offered to Eusoff residents in Semester Two of each AY. Designed to bring together classroom and experiential learning, this module serves to anchor our own Eusoff Expedition in academic content on environmental issues and human capacity building in Southeast Asia. In its first offer, the module was read by twenty two Eusoffians.

Another new development is a monthly e-letter which was launched in January 2014 to communicate hall news, events and practices to residents. Besides this, a new informal talk series entitled, the Eusoff Dinner Conversations, was introduced. In this gathering, residents discuss a wide range of topics over dinner with an inspirational speaker and share ideas in a relaxed environment. The aim is to create cosy conversations so that students can mingle, socialize and develop ease and confidence in meaningful social conversations. The first two Eusoff Dinner Conversations were kicked off last year. As from the coming year, all residents must sign up for at least one Dinner Conversation in each AY.

As I end my message for this yearbook, I wish all graduating seniors success in their job hunts and future careers. Years down the road, I know that future leaders of society will come from this year's graduating cohort. My hope is that you will remain connected to the hall by joining the Eusoff Alumni Association. To returning students, I look forward to welcome you back to hall life. Together with my hall colleagues and JCRC leaders, we will do our very best to create an inclusive, educationally stimulating and purposeful hall environment with abundant instructive, co-curricular and networking opportunities for you to explore, learn, and grow as responsible young adults.

All Best Wishes

JCRC

PRESIDENT

Ching Meng Hang

As I am writing this message, the 26th JCRC is nearing the final lap of our journey. Looking back, it has been a great honour to have served in this great Committee of leaders. It has also been a great joy to have served the Hall and its people that I have grown to love more and more, and it is not only because of the assistance that everyone has so willingly rendered me whenever I ask for it.

The Hall is a very special place of learning and leadership development - where we get to try things that we cannot do outside, fail like we cannot do outside, and in the process, pick up important lessons that we cannot do outside. These invaluable moments and lessons have shaped me into who I am today. However, Eusoff is not just one ordinary Hall. Every true Eusoffian lives by its motto, Excellence and Harmony, and stands by its proud tradition. These help us strive for that extra moment longer, bring out that extra brilliance, and most importantly, extend that extra hand of friendship to each other.

As we started our term, the 26th decided to focus on the Eusoff identity. We want each and every Eusoffian to be able to take ownership of their journey in this wonderful Hall. We know how much the Hall has helped us grow in a community, and we want all who come in to have the same opportunities as we have. We also try to share with each Eusoffian the measures in place that help them achieve their dreams in Hall. This sums up our mission for the year.

This year, the JCRC has tirelessly worked with various committees to promote the Hall's identity, be it Orientation Committee, Hall Promotion Board, or Sports Management Committee. We have made it easier for residents to have access to information and share their concerns, through Focus Groups AGM and Block Dialogues. I believe this is the right direction that we are taking.

"It has also been a great joy to have served the Hall and its people that I have grown to love more and more..."

This year, we celebrate another year of excellence and harmony. Our Dance Production, Love is a Place, has received much solid affirmation from the audience. It is a hallmark event that indeed all Eusoffians can be proud of, involving more than 200 Eusoffians in various capacities - many of them experiencing what they are doing for the first time in Hall! Once again, we have also made it to the grandest stage of Asia, the Chingay Parade with our Rag performance. Our social services committees continue to do our Hall proud with affirmations from the University - with Eusoff Expeditions' Student Achievements Award and the Green Committee's Inter-Hall Environmental Award. They are essential in helping us bond the residents of various interests, and bridging the Hall with the greater community. These committees create unique experiences and friendships and are the most memorable and enduring gifts that all Eusoffians leave the Hall with. Some say that Hall residents are crazy with our various involvements, I say because we know it is all worth it.

At the same time, it has been a tough year. The Inter-Hall Games have not gone our way this time. While congratulating the winners, we can be proud that we have given it our best. In Eusoff, we are not champions because we win. Rather, we win because we are champions. I am very heartened when our sportsmen consistently show us what it is like to fight for Eusoff till the very last minute on the field, not giving up even when all odds are against us. The results are a great setback, but one that has awakened the Eusoffian identity like never before. I am very proud of our freshmen who have since risen up to take an interest in the Hall's future, and their place as up and coming leaders of this Hall. Together, Eusoff will reclaim our rightful title.

The ups and downs that the Hall has seen this year contribute in their special way to our consciousness, experiences and common bond as Eusoffians. Personally, I am very privileged to have served this Hall in this eventful year. I am thankful to all those who have served alongside me, all the committee heads, sports captains, and all residents who have risen up to the occasion and taken initiatives, meeting the needs of our fellow Eusoffians above our own.

I have grown so much in this position it is unimaginable. The burdens and responsibilities placed on my shoulders are sometimes suffocating, but with the support of my fellow JCRC members we have pulled

"These invaluable moments and lessons have shaped me into who I am today."

through many such challenges. In the process, we learnt many lessons, and forged wonderful friendships.

The JCRC is a house of leaders, who contributes to the Committee in our own very special ways. To my team, I am thankful to each one of you for sticking with me through bad decisions and helping me to come up with good ones.

Yi Shun, your "stalking skills" have brought me invaluable information about friends and foes I cannot imagine surviving this Presidency without. But seriously, thank you for having that personal touch that helped gel the team and the Hall, and for being a dependable friend.

Victor, your invaluable insights and sharp mind have always kept me on my toes, and most importantly, helped me in reaching the best decisions that I can for the Hall.

Ka Woon, thank you for being such a capable and reliable Honorary General Secretary. I cannot imagine how I would have lived through this year without your timely help in everything!

Jasmine, thank you for keeping my accounts in order. It is a difficult and thankless job, but with you in charge I know that I never have to worry about finances. All the best for your future endeavours after graduation!

Evangeline, thank you for being you and making Hall a little more liveable for all. Thank you for all the differences you and your teams have made, under your two terms leadership of Student Affairs, to student welfare in Eusoff Hall.

Claire, thank you for stepping up to be my capable Media Director. Your craziness let the Committee meetings and chats come alive!

Amanda, thank you for never letting me worry about Performing Arts. You were not given much time to learn the ropes after our term started, but everything went like clockwork under your very able management.

Jarrold, besides your management of Social Services, your insightful comments in meetings helped the JCRC tremendously while your jokes made them a little more survivable.

Heng Yang, tough times do not last but tough people do. Thank you for all your contribution to Sports, and for all the encouragements along the way.

The Presidency is a place where I hope that I have done my bit in this world, and is a place where I have seen much personal growth. I would like to thank all of you for this opportunity to serve and learn, and for giving me your help and advice so readily when I ask for it. Here is to another year of Excellence and Harmony in our great, great Hall!

VICE PRESIDENT

Victor Goh

Why would a Year 4 senior with two majors sinking in piles of untouched readings and research papers decide that one year of being in Eusoff's Junior Common Room Committee - (arguably one of the shionggest JCRC in NUS, ok?) - wasn't enough?

Well, I don't know, really, lol. But I have some idea. I have some reasons. But definitely, these aren't complete and comprehensive enough for me to fully express why I decided to throw away my SEP offer to Birmingham to take up JCRC in Year 3, and then again in Year 4 - and partially because the editors reading this would kill me for exceeding the word limit.

As my various FASS Profs have taught me, I shall clearly state my thesis here: Eusoff changed me for the better, and I want to change Eusoff for the better.

How Eusoff changed me

Eusoff is definitely a "sandbox for future leaders" (Ching, 2013). In my past 4 years as a resident in Eusoff, I am extremely grateful to be thrown into this quicksand of Eusoff, where I would either have to grow wings to fly out of the pit, or sink in, die, get kicked out of hall and perhaps even drop out of university with a CAP below 2.0. Victor Goh once said, "they say in army, boys become men. I say in JCRC, men become wise old men" (Goh, 2013). Well, the Victor Goh now still firmly believes in what the Victor Goh then said - not that he's that wise anyway. But of course, this quicksand is only open to those willing enough, or stupid enough, to dive in.

I am truly thankful for being given the opportunity since Year 1 to be molded by the culture, and with it the demands, of Eusoff Hall. It was, and still is, a mad rush for points and with it, came the need to jump headlong into various leadership positions in the different CCAs Eusoff had to offer - from various roles such as treasurer, secretary, head, etc.

These experiences have taught me much, and have changed me from the mostly selfish, narcissistic, objective-driven control freak, to someone able (or at least now more willing) to understand the position of others, and to look beyond ends to embrace the process of working with others. Being forced to work in teams, to work for common passions, and to pursue and fight against common enemies is one of the best ways to bond people.

Eusoff has given me growth not just in skills, but definitely in friendships, body (IHG initially, and now mostly suppers) and mind (if you don't grow in intellect after your 3-4 years of university, you better question yourself hard, very hard, on what you're doing here.).

So my key advice to Eusoffians: Jump in. Grow wings. But don't kill yourself.

Ok so now comes the wrap up for the year.

How I hoped to change Eusoff

1. The points system: I hated the system when I was in Year 1 - it was not transparent, and even corrupt. When I was Year 2, it got better. When I was year 3, I had the chance to refine it. Now in Year 4, there were more opportunities to continue the work left undone. My first objective this year was to create a more objective method of assessment for committee heads to assess their members. This was done through the work plans, with committee heads stating explicitly the various 'KPI' for their members, and sticking to it (we made sure of that) even towards the deadlines before readmission.

Another improvement was the stronger recognition for external CCAs beyond Eusoff that contributed to student life in NUS.

We sought and encouraged Eusoffians to participate in external CCAs, and I tried my best to bargain for better points mirrored to what they would receive in Eusoff.

Residents can now hopefully find themselves in a more transparent and objective system that gives due credit.

2. Sponsorship: The redevelopment of the marketing/sponsorship committee was a step taken in order to consolidate Eusoff's corporate identity, as well as to improve our relations and work ethics with external organizations. This year saw the development of procedures for sponsorship, a centralized database of external companies, development of student marketers, and various successful cash sponsorships from companies by the committee. In future years, I do hope the committee can continue helping out with the various sponsorship needs of various Eusoff CCAs.

These were just some of the things spearheaded by the 26th JCRC, and limited by space, I shall keep the number to a lucky two - just because my girlfriend likes the number.

How others changed Eusoff

Change in Eusoff cannot be achieved through the vision and effort of one - it is the effort of every 485 residents, and ahem some squatters. And to that, whatever you see in Eusoff today, is really the product of hard work for the hall. I am extremely grateful to have the opportunity to work alongside some of the hardest workers and most passionate folks in Eusoff Hall!

To the 26th JCRC: thanks for putting up with me! From my various peeves regarding meeting up face-to-face when we can settle things online, to the extreme progressive mentality in utilizing technologies to improve efficiency, as well as the cut-to-the-chase criticisms I am often quick to deliver on issues,

"Jump in. Grow wings. But don't kill yourself. "

I am definitely not the easiest person to work with - it gets like this when you're in year 4 and want to maximize time/resources lol.

I am most thankful for Ching, who is arguably the most patient lawyer I've ever encountered. To be able to put up with a team of so many hot-headed and stubborn people requires legendary forbearance, and he definitely should have a legend written about his patience as well as being another crazy 2=year JCRC dude.

Kawoon, is crazy. She doesn't sleep. She is always sending out emails at 4am. She is one bull of a worker in JCRC and the most dependable secretary we could ever ask for. Thanks for stepping up and doing this even though Chingay killed you last year - I hope JCRC revived you!

Yishun (Daesung) is our Korean superstar. Like the marvelous products Koreans come up with: Samsung, Hyundai, LG, Kia, Bimbimbaps, Korean BBQs, etc. Yishun is one of the most creative folks when it comes to ideas, always passionate and an idea-tank that the team can count on whenever we plan stuff.

I will thank the rest of the JCRC on personal basis due to space constraints, and also because I still haven't thanked my committee heads yet!

Cheryl, as the Chingay head, has truly got to be the hardest worker on earth. I have never seen anyone as deeply committed to Rag, and now Chingay. Cheryl's dedication can be seen in how at 3am daily, she is still painting A-Pu's face in the Rag room. Cheryl, thank you for giving Eusoff a shot at this Chingay, and a really good shot at that!

Jolin AKA angry bird, thank you for taking up HPB and pushing past the many limitations we have! It is definitely not easy being constantly shot down and on so many levels on the ideas you guys have to promote the hall. Your determination to push initiatives is just like an angry bird game - angry red birds respawning, to take down stubborn pig buildings, over and over and over again. And when you fail, you simply restart, respawn, and get going again.

Sarah, thanks for being willing to re-pioneer the centralized marketing committee. While it is already not easy to start something from scratch, it is definitely much more difficult to start something from random disorganized bits and pieces lying around. Thanks for starting an engine that can hopefully continue powering and fueling Eusoff Hall!

Last, but definitely not least, the SCRC of Eusoff Hall: it is truly a privilege to be a resident of a hall that is so supportive of student activities. Without the nurturing culture that our masters and resident fellows, Eusoff Hall will not be what it is. Thank you for the consistent guidance as well as engagement with students even as we rush headlong into things without a perspectives and concerns from the bigger picture!

Ok, I'm way past my word limit, and I think I should stop multi-tasking and return to the points system meeting lol. Long-windedness comes with age, if you recall something I said about old men.

To my fellow Eusoffians, stay through to our motto: Excellence and harmony :)

Eusoff to the fore!

VICE PRESIDENT

Tey Yi Shun

The past year as the Vice President of Eusoff Hall has undoubtedly been a humbling, inspiring and fulfilling one. It was an amazing experience, meeting Eusoffians from all walks of life, and watching the fruits of our labour grow. Looking back at the past year, there are three main events that I would like to mention and highlight:

IHG

Losing the championship for the first time in 7 years is never easy to swallow and the disappointment and anguish can be clearly seen on many faces in hall. However it's during times like this that we see a hall unite like never before, supporting each other on and off court, and more determined to do better next year. Countless posters and post-its to spur the hall forward were seen in every corner of Eusoff, and it was indeed a sight to behold. To me, IHG was never just about the goal medals. It is about bringing the entire hall together to achieve a common goal. Because, as long as the hall is united and focused, winning is but a matter of time. To the batch of Eusoffians in AY 14/15, just remember this: "Gold medals aren't really made of gold. They're made of sweat, determination and the Eusoff Spirit."

EHDP

Our Eusoff Hall Dance Production is an annual testament of the sheer talent, creativity and commitment of the performing arts scene in Eusoff. We pride ourselves to be the only hall to present a dance and drama production year after year, and EHDP has never failed to bring immense satisfaction to the people who

"To my fellow Eusoffians, thank you for being a constant source of motivation, encouragement and inspiration to me. "

genuinely put in the hard work. Stepping down as the Producer last year and assuming the role of an Ex-Officio and a dancer this year gave me new perspectives and opportunities to work and dance alongside amazing and talented people. I'm proud to say that Eusoff has once again put up yet another remarkable show this year (arguably one of the best over the last four years). Congratulations to everyone who played a part in this year's EHDP, especially the producers Terence Lo and Megan Chew.

Eusoff Gala Night

This year, for the first time since 09/10, the closing event of Eusoff Hall will be held externally at the NUSS Guild House. While some call it to be the return of the once popular Eusoff Dinner&Dance, others call it The Eusoff Awards. Whatever it is, the Eusoff Gala Night has always been THE closing event of Eusoff Hall. There are two objectives, to celebrate a year of splendid performance put up by the Eusoffians, and to show appreciation to outstanding individuals for their commitment and contribution to hall. We decided to go to the NUSS Guild House due to its close proximity, ambience and quality of food. It was a long shot when I first envisioned it back in September, but the sheer dedication of the 26th JCRC and the unwavering support of all Eusoffians made this dream possible.

Retrospectively, a lot of events that took place over the past year made me feel even more for my motivation when I decided to step up as the Vice President back in year 2 sem 2. My motivation was simple: to "Preserve the Eusoff Experience". It was to ensure that years from now, our juniors would be able to learn and grow from the experiences that we have been through. It was to ensure that Eusoffians get to define who we are and what we want. It was to ensure that there is proper continuity and archiving of what is important. It was to ensure that our juniors do not have to start from scratch and repeat our mistakes, and instead focus their energy on scaling greater heights. It was to ensure that our heritage and legacies are kept, both to serve as a motivation and a lesson to future Eusoffians who step into this hall. Till today, this motivation still stands.

I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to the entire 26th JCRC, for standing by one another even when our views differ from time to time. Thank you for proactively extending a helping hand whether or not it relates to our work. Most importantly, thank you for the sacrifices that you have made for Eusoff, and for stepping up and dedicating all your time and effort willingly. To my fellow Eusoffians, thank you for being a constant source of motivation, encouragement and inspiration to me. At the end of the day, no matter how small or insignificant my contributions may seem, I hope that it has helped shape Eusoff into a better place for all of you. That is all that matters to me.

HONORARY GENERAL SECRETARY

Lim Ka Woon

It is my weakness as Hon Gen Sec - the urge to pen down everything that left an impression in my JCRC journey - but oh, let's just keep it to what's relevant so that people will read these minutes, right?

It is with honour, humility and dedication that I serve my fellow Eusoffians this past academic year. I am honoured to be trusted by those I serve in a position where much is expected; and humbled upon learning how much I have yet to learn.

As Hon Gen Sec, the amount of administrative work can be stifling at times. However knowing that the work I do supports the JCRC and the hall, keeps me going. People ask how I cope with school work and leadership in hall - my reply is that I always find time for the people I lead. A mentor once said - be thankful, not annoyed, when people approach you for help, for it is a sign that you are useful and trusted as a leader. Being in JCRC gave me the chance to serve the people and hall I love, and many opportunities to get better at it. For example, interaction with other halls'

JCRCs and frequent opportunities to represent Eusoff's student body were good exposure to issues at the larger NUS level, and I learnt how to effectively communicate residents' concerns to different parties such as SCRC, NUSSU and OSA etc.

To my fellow JCRC members: I am proud that we have supported one another through thick and thin. I admit we have diverse personalities, but I am thankful we embraced one another's differences. Even though discussions on Points System, GEL, and a host of other issues become debates at times, we are always able to keep the big picture in sight and make good decisions. I have learnt a lot from every one of you, and I admire you guys as leaders in your own domains. Thank you for going the distance together and making this JCRC journey truly worthwhile.

This year, I am really happy that Eusoffians think for one another as one Eusoff. Instead of fighting for the use of our one and only Function Hall, Eusoffians came to me with de-conflicted timetables of IHG sports and DP practice to maximise the overly popular space; they approached me to check which activities might need the FH before booking it for their own. We also witnessed bottom-up initiatives such as the Gym revamp and Mini-Library. I believe that Meng Hang's vision during Rag, Flag, and Orientation period to bond the freshmen and Heng Yang's sports campaign of "Back Up, Never Back Down" struck the right chords and was what Eusoff needed to build a strong hall identity this year. As an effort towards transparency, we also put into place a clear and fair policy for the use of our Dance Studio and Function Hall for different student activities. These seemingly minute things do make a difference to the quality of hall life.

The work of committees under my portfolio is largely administrative and plays a supportive role to other hall activities. My goal this year was to standardise operating procedures of the Secretariat and Auditors, and prepare to streamline Archives, Secretariat and Digital Management for the task of archiving.

To be specific, the Secretariat Committee this year implemented clear procedures to collect and archive committee documents throughout the year, creating a database to help committee work transit smoothly and build on past knowledge and expertise. I thank Yiyi and her team for their relentless efforts in obtaining these records and ensuring that they are passed down.

The Archives Committee made their inventory of yearbooks and physical artefacts from the pre-digital ages functional at long last, readily providing information to other committees. They also increased outreach to Eusoffians by sharing Eusoff's history. I am thankful to Nam for pressing on in difficult circumstances, and for adopting my suggestions and turning them into reality. There is great potential for development of Archives going forward.

The Auditors led by Huizhong has my admiration for their conscientious auditing of photo, audio, music and sports equipment twice every Semester, and standardizing the records for easy administration of future audits. These accounts will come into use in the budget planning for next AY.

The Elections Committee, newly set up this year to organise Block Head and JCRC Elections, aim to ensure the rigour of leadership selection and promote residents' interest in this process. With Angela's foresight, neat plans and good management of her committee, I am certain that elections will be a smooth, fair, and rigorous process. I thank her for stepping up to lead.

Three years have whizzed by, and I have gained much from Eusoff. I am filled with gratitude towards seniors and mentors in hall who have guided me to be the person I am today. From Rag to Chingay to Choir to EVC, the challenges I faced in leadership positions then were immense (as it seemed then), but with their patience and trust, I have overcome odds and I am still safe and sound. As a tribute, I tell myself to guide my successors with the same care and dedication.

As the academic year ends, we hand over to a new team of leaders and welcome a new batch of Eusoffians. To current and future Eusoffians, I hope that you will embrace the intensity of hall life and grab the opportunities presented to you without fear of failure. Hall life will test your limits, after which you realize there are none. Hall life will bring out the worst and best in others, and in you. If you give things a chance to play out, the returns are usually good. Amidst the whirlwind of it all, work hard and play harder, for these few years are short so make them golden.

To end off, I would like to say that three years in Eusoff has shaped my strength in character, my thinking and of course, my social circle. As I look back, the toughest times are the sweetest; friends made then remain closest. In my short one-year stint as Hon Gen Sec, I dare not say that I have given back to Eusoff more than what she has given me, but I hope that Eusoffians have benefited one way or another from our work.

May Eusoff continue to be a fertile ground for nurturing young talents and leaders of calibre, and may excellence and harmony remain at the essence of all Eusoff's future endeavours.

MEDIA DIRECTOR

Claire Boon

It would not be an exaggeration to say that university life without Hall would have been utterly dull.

I dare admit now, at the end of my term, that running for the post of Media Director was quite the impromptu decision; serious consideration was given only mere hours before the nomination deadline of the year before. Priorly, I simply could not picture myself in such a position, and so when Luke, the 25th Media Director, enquired casually some time back if I had any interest in running, I honestly thought he must have been joking. Only when he asked me again on the date of the nomination deadline itself did I felt a seemingly incomprehensible impetus to run. My first year in Hall had been immensely enriching in a great myriad of ways. More than just a balm for everyday ennui, Hall provides many opportunities for us to explore and indulge in our interests, and in turn, hones our character and expedites personal development. As such, I have much to be grateful for and I wanted to reciprocate in kind. Having been given the opportunity to serve as a Media Director, I endeavoured to fulfil my responsibilities to the best I could.

Without one iota of doubt, the media services in Hall would not have been possible without the talents and dedication of exceptional individuals of AudioWorks, EusoffWorks and Publications. I'd like to express heartfelt gratitude to each and every member of the aforementioned committees, whom have worked most arduously throughout the academic year (even when the activities of most other committees have ceased) to keep the media-related side of Hall functional. Their efforts have surely enriched the Hall experience for each and every Eusoffian.

Kaiwen, thank you ever so much for your dedication and hard work; it must not have been easy as the AudioWorks head; and I understand that at times that it must have been very frustrating, but thank you for pulling things through and making things work out in the end!

To Panjun and Shennan, thank you for looking after EusoffWorks, which is a huge committee and it must not have been easy taking on the heavy responsibilities required as the heads of EusoffWorks!

To Gejing, I have nothing but the utmost admiration and respect for you; your job must have indeed been tough and tedious but yet you did it all so very well that I never needed to worry. I could always count on you and be sure that EusoffWorks was in safe hands when Panjun had gone for SEP in Semester 2.

Huizhong, thank you for stepping up as a very capable Publications co-head in the second semester. From my own experience as the Publications head in the academic year before, I can empathise with the frustrations you face, and so.

Joshua, thank you for all your advice and guidance and always keeping a watchful eye on Eusoff matters! Your insights have always been of great value and I am thankful for your input.

Finally, to my fellow members of the 26th JCRC, there are no words worthy enough to express the full extent of my gratitude. Working with highly capable and driven individuals such as yourselves has been an utmost privilege and a most eye-opening and enriching experience, and all of you have taught me so much. I avow with utmost sinceret has been a great pleasure working with each and every one of you and I can only feel very lucky indeed to have known you all.

I am truly humbled, and I have learnt so much during my term. There is a quote by Oscar Wilde which pretty much sums up my experience in Eusoff: "To live is the rarest thing in the world. Most people exist, that is all."

Thank you Eusoff, and above all, thank you Eusoffians!

"Hall provides many opportunities for us to explore and indulge in our interests, and in turn, hones our character and expedites personal development. "

PERFORMING ARTS DIRECTOR

Amanda Chia

With a blink of an eye, my term as the Performing Arts Director is coming to an end. Just about a year ago, I never thought that I would decide to take up a position in the JCRC, never thought that I would be serving the hall in such a way. This one term in the JCRC has definitely not been an easy one, with many ups and downs, but I am glad that I had decided to run for this position a year ago.

In this one academic year, we have seen many talents in the performing arts scene in hall. I have seen so many people grow in their individual skills, be it singing, dancing, or playing an instrument. It is extremely heartwarming to observe fellow residents, who may be more experienced in their art, helping those who are new and keen to learn. That was one of the reasons why I decided to run for this position a year ago. This unique culture that we have in Eusoff, about trying new things, uncovering hidden talents, was the biggest motivation for me.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all the culture groups, namely A Cappella, Band, Choir, Dance, Drama and Elixer, for putting up amazing performances during the inter-hall concerts, as well as our own internal performances. The standard of the performances this year have exceeded my expectations, and I have the heads to thank for that. Many thanks to Dinh, Suren, Nian Deng, Jun An, Yongxin, Shannen and Liao Jia for continuously pushing your groups to achieve higher, and also for all your guidance in helping your members be better performers than what they were. On a personal level, thank you for putting up with all my demands and for being so co-operative during this one year.

Our hidden talents got a chance to show Eusoff what they were capable of during our very own Talent Night in the MPC, and the culture groups had the opportunity to show Eusoffians what they were capable of during the Cultural Night in October. All of these events would not have been possible without the help of the Cultural Events Management Committee, headed by Chloe Lee. This year, Chloe and her team collaborated with SAC to bring one of their special suppers in for the audience watching Cultural Night to enjoy. This collaboration with SAC reduced the number of events in our hall calendar, and enabled the audiences to enjoy the performances in a more relaxed manner. I look forward to more of such collaborations in the future!

This year, a new committee that fell under the Performing Arts Director's portfolio was Cheerleading. The combined cheerleading team with Temasek Hall, headed by Wei Jin, regardless of their small member size, stayed passionate to their sport and sought continuous improvements. It has always been a thrilling experience watching the Falcons pull off all their stunts flawlessly.

Something new that was introduced this year was the first-ever Combined Hall Ensemble Concert, Encores. Our Eusoff Elixer presented two breathtaking performances that made audiences want to clap along with them.

The Elixer members were extremely excited about such an opportunity, and worked hard for the performance over the December vacation. Their efforts were paid off. For a first performance in UCC Theatre as an ensemble, it was definitely commendable!

On this note, I would like to thank my predecessor, Pamela, as well as the 26th JCRC, for answering my queries and for all the encouragement and motivation. I could not have survived this one term as the Performing Arts Director without all of you. I feel extremely privileged to be able to work with such wonderful leaders, and forge friendships that I will treasure.

As my term is coming to an end, what I hope to see is that the culture scene in Eusoff will continuously strive for improvement, as there is no end to how far we can go. The friendships that have been forged through common passion and interests are those that we will never forget. After two years in Eusoff, I have come to believe that Eusoff is a place for people to unleash their full potential, and try new areas that have yet to be explored; be it in sports, performing arts, or leadership.

It was an extremely fulfilling experience serving all my fellow Eusoffians as your Performing Arts Director. Thank you for giving me such an opportunity, and wishing everyone all the best in their future endeavors!

SOCIAL SERVICES DIRECTOR

Jarrod Sim

The Hall has grown to become an integral part of my undergraduate life. As an international student, Hall was a means to an end. It was essentially a roof over our heads, a place to eat and sleep in. But it didn't take long before this concept underwent a paradigm shift.

Eusoff Hall became more than just a house for me, it evolved and became a place I could really call home.

My journey as Social Services Director has been a humbling and enriching. I will admit that as soon as work started, I realised there was much I had to learn whilst tackling the job. The experience opened my eyes towards the many issues and factors that had to be considered and kept at the back of my mind so as to effectively carry out the role as a JCRC member for the good of the Hall and for its residents.

I was spurred on to step up to be Social Services Director because of my work in hall at the community services front. My days as a volunteer at the Eusoff Voluntary Corps were my first formulative experiences of being a community services volunteer. The strong community service outreach of Eusoff Hall was actually what made me decide to apply to stay here. Without a doubt I had made the right choice of Hall as I had many chances to give and learn during the experience. Stepping up as Director for EVC in my second year gave me a different perspective from that of a volunteer on the ground. Leading the Corps gave me insight into the management of a group of passionate volunteers and a perspective of the multitude of considerations that needed to be addressed to effectively manage it.

These experiences were foundational to my inspiration to run for Social Services Director as I was inspired to see what I could extract from my experiences on a committee level, to that across the Hall, and thus hopefully giving back to the Eusoffian community and structure that has shaped and moulded me.

My vision is to see a Hall banded together. No individual alone can achieve as much greatness as what can be achieved by a group of banded individuals fighting for a common cause. This same effect as observed in our IHG campaigns and Dance Productions was what I wanted to see within the Hall community for the social services front.

Because of this, I tried to find opportunities to involve more Eusoffians to give back to the community. Some worked out, some didn't pull through, but in the end, I hope that ultimately, Eusoffians came out of the process of the academic year as individuals more concerned for their community.

This year saw Eusoff Hall bringing back the organisation of a blood drive in collaboration with 3 other Halls (Temasek, Sheares and King Edward VII) as a Combined Hall initiative to make it more convenient for Hall Residents to be blood donors. Over a period of three days (8-10th October 2013), the Halls pooled in resources and manpower to stage blood donation drives in turn at their respective venues in the Halls' premises for their residents and the NUS community. Eusoff Hall hosted together with Temasek Hall on the 8th of October on our premises at the Function Hall and saw many of our yellow blooded Eusoffians bleeding for a good cause. I was delighted and touched to see residents who never donated before come down and muster the courage to donate that day. On that day we saw 96 registrants whereby 64 successfully made a blood donation. Over the three days, a total of 177 blood units were donated (of 284 registrants) by the efforts from all four Halls. It's this power in numbers where each resident draws inspiration and strength from each other, which I love about our Hall.

During the Christmas break, our Eusoff Choir engaged with a new client for their annual Christmas Caroling by visiting the wards at the National University Hospital. Our choristers brought along some Christmas cheer to the wards over two days, singing Christmas carols to the delight of the patients, nurses and doctors on duty. It was a different experience for our choir group but a rewarding one nonetheless. As I stood there watching the choir perform, more than once, a nurse or doctor would express how beautiful they sung and were sincerely thankful for our efforts in spreading some holiday cheer. I remember vividly of how one of the elderly ladies, upon understanding that there were to be caroling in the wards, immediately got up and beamed ever so widely. You don't forget a smile like that easily.

It's from these experiences over the year as the Social Services Director that kept me going. To witness and to play a part in the great things that Eusoffians do with their talents and hearts; it has been simply inspirational to work with such an amazing batch of residents.

I can't express enough the gratitude I have for my committees of my portfolio, and in particular the heads of the following committees; Eusoff Voluntary Corps, Eusoff Expeditions and Green Committee. Thank you for continuing the great work that you do, for pushing the frontier and for trying out new initiatives. For continuing to nurture the members under your care with the enthusiasm that you possess and for inspiring them, as well as myself, with the good work that you do in creating a community service platform for the Hall residents. Thank you for making sure that the efforts of every volunteer was valued and for inspiring each and every one of them to care; pushing every volunteer to move ahead to live, love and learn and to impart an appreciation of the volunteer's role in raising awareness and in educating others on issues important to the causes we represent.

To the 26th JCRC, thank you for being such a superb and passionate team to work with. We've been through so much together and I'm glad to have had you guys every step of the way. Thank you for teaching and inspiring me to reach greater heights in our endeavours for the good of the Hall and the residents. Thank you for always lending your strength and support as we drove our own individual projects and for always accommodating each other in our work together. It has been my honour and privilege to have served the Hall with you.

Thank you SCRC for your continuous support and guidance. It has been an immense pleasure to work together to ensure the best for our residents. Thank you also to the Hall Office (Ms Rashidah, Ms Jalilah and Mdm Vivien) for your support and advise, and in also taking care of us and for showing your concern for us and the work that we do.

Thank you Eusoffians. It has been an amazing year working for you. Your spirit and passion is what drove us to work harder. I hope that we've done enough to carry on the Eusoffian torch of Excellence and Harmony to the fore.

SPORTS DIRECTOR

Tang Heng Yang

Dear Eusoffians,

It has been my honor to be part of the 26th JCRC and to be given a chance to serve each and every one of you. Writing this post also means that my term as the 26th JCRC Sports Director is coming to an end, and this feeling is a bittersweet one.

Eusoff's journey in this year IHG hasn't been easy. Narrow losses, tough luck, game changing injuries, time after time we had to face circumstances that are out of our control. However, day in, day out, every Eusoffian be it sportsmen or supporters fought our hearts out like a true champion without regrets and approached every single game like it's our last. And as a Sports Director, there's nothing more I could ask for.

I would like to use this opportunity to thank a few individuals for their unwavering support throughout this journey, for without them I would never have been able to come this far.

Firstly, much thanks to the 26th JCRC for sticking by me through the term and having my back especially during IHG. Thank you for all your kind support and understanding, they mean a lot.

Thank you Wan Yi for walking this journey with me since the very first day. Things haven't been easy for both of us throughout the past year, but we have pulled through it together. Been my honour working with you, and am truly thankful for you. Thank you You Chen and Rachel for taking up this role despite your heavy personal commitments.

"For all the effort put in,
every drop of sweat,
blood, tear,
every Eusoffian should be proud to be Eusoffian."

You guys are the backbone, the unsung heroes of this team and I have absolutely no regrets approaching you to run for this position. Thank you for caring for this hall with your hearts, and never failed in meeting any expectations and deadlines.

Thank you Bryan for your unwavering support and guidance. You are a true inspiration for each and every Eusoffian, and I must say I have learnt a lot from you. Thank you for making me a better person, for always lending me a listening ear, and for guiding me throughout every single problems.

Thank you Alissa for being so responsible, and always reminding me so that I will meet the deadlines. Your contribution to this committee can never be overlooked. To be able to see how much you grew and fought in the past one year, I could not have been prouder.

To all Eusoffians, thank you for your hard work, dedication and commitment. For all the effort put in, every drop of sweat, blood, tear, every Eusoffian should be proud to be Eusoffian.

The memories have been very sweet and every moment of this journey a life-changing one.

Thank you Eusoff.

FINANCE DIRECTOR

Jasmine Ng

When I first entered hall, I didn't think that I would stay on for so many years or how I could be involved, I just know of hall as a place where I can try many things. Looking back the 3 years, I can say that my journey in hall has been a fulfilling one and my involvement in Rag and Chingay opened doors to my other commitments. It was by chance that I ventured into Rag and Chingay but it was also one that gave me the most growth. Without it, I would not have achieved what I had today or even continued staying in hall. The things that we did and the people that we met add on to my understanding of hall and also made me belong.

It was quite a last minute decision for me to decide on running for JCRC as I was not sure about it and how I could be involved as I only started being a treasurer in Year 2. In addition to the pushing force the other reasons were more of experiencing and challenging myself and I get to work with like-minded people who have also contributed to hall in their own ways. As experience has shown, agreeing before long thinking has its benefits, so to those who are considering for anything, just do it, you wouldn't know what you will gain at the end of it. I would not say that I do not have any moments of regrets especially when the going gets tough or when there are just too many things to handle at one go. But at the end of the day the feeling you get when you complete yet another hurdle makes everything worthwhile.

Hall has taught me a lot of things, things that I would not have a chance to learn elsewhere. It forces me to prioritize my commitments and to manage many of them at one go. It taught me to think about my responsibilities and I learnt

"...cherish the chance given and commit to it because the chance that you have now is a chance others are deprived of."

to give up when I could not afford time for extra commitments that I wanted. It also let me see how I work as a person and in a team and what I can be capable of contributing alongside nurturing new passions.

Word of Thanks

To the 26th, thanks for always having trust in what I do and for tolerating my lameness. No doubt it is intense but it has been a memorable journey working with you all and I hope that you all enjoyed it as well. We might not be perfect but at least while we are in it, we served for what we believe in and in our individual ways, did what we could do to make Eusoff the place for everyone.

To SCRC and hall office, thank you for always guiding me and answering my questions whenever I have doubts regarding finance processes.

To those I interact with for finance, thanks for tolerating my chasings and naggings on procedures. The details may seem small but they definitely help in making everything smoother. Hopefully it does not deter you all away from finance and that some of you will continue in it.

To the seniors, some of whom might have graduated, thanks for all the efforts that you have put into hall resulting in the Eusoff that we experienced. You are the group that set the system in place, letting us know what is possible.

To fellow Eusoffians, we all might have different definitions as to what constitute a Eusoffian. But one thing that I could say is to treasure the time and moments that you have in hall, from communal living with friends, to participating in hall activities. Your time in hall is only so long and before you know it, it will be over. Take this opportunity to learn something you have always wanted, or something you have never thought of. To quote a phrase, "learn something new each year" and of course cherish the chance given and commit to it because the chance that you have now is a chance others are deprived of. You can only gain if you give and through this can you define your own Eusoff experience.

STUDENT AFFAIRS DIRECTOR

Evangeline Kwok

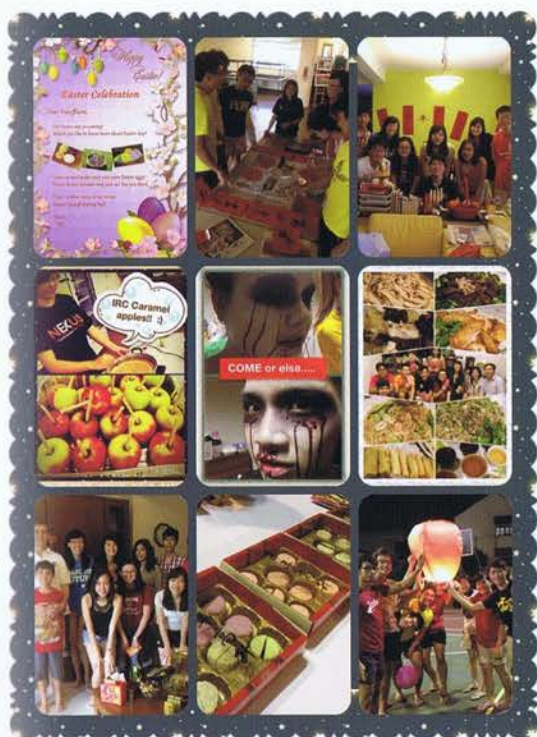

Same same. Yet different.

Yes it's me again for one more year of a SAD life! Steve Jobs once said, "Do what you love & never work a day in your life." And this holds true in my journey as part of the 26th JCRC and as the Student Affairs Director (SAD). Through this, I have learnt much, been blessed much and am therefore thankful for the opportunities.

This year, 2 more eggs were added to my basket. That made the Student Affairs Committee (SAC), International Relations Committee (IRC), the Special Projects Team (SPT) and the Hall Management Committee (HMC) fall under my care. It was an exciting and unique journey weaving four of these interconnected committees together and walking hand in hand in tandem. I firmly believed that each of these committees formed a piece of the puzzle, with SAC dealing with the little things that make a hall life for each Eusoffian, SPT spearheading the mass bonding activities such as Night

Cycling and Eusoff Fiesta, IRC tending to the needs of International students and exchange students while HMC works from the ground up, one block at a time. Once people began to have a stake in this mission, something great was brewing. 'Eusoff Hall' begins to take a significant place in the hearts of many.

Also, to be privileged to be given a second year in my tenure, there were some things that I wanted to focus on differently as I did in my first year as SAD. Having in some way built SAC up to be the way it is today, I began to feel a burden then to work on building IRC up as a dynamic and exciting committee that works towards creating a place called home for International students so that in every way possible, they would feel part of this family, even if it was only one semester of exchange. So this year, on top of the usual welcome teas for exchange students, we planned 4 key events: Mid Autumn Festival, a Halloween night with our very first haunted house and caramel apples, Chinese New Year festivities and an inaugural Easter Day celebration.

Mission IRC – activated”

It's been a ball of a time with scary ghosts and sweet caramel apples, fun and laughter at festivities, gathering of friends, and a great learning of different cultures and customs!

Of course, it is of utmost importance that I thank these people (hopefully they read this) No amount of thanks can thank them enough:

To my dear Blockheads,

Tan Yu Feng, the fire that sparks the bond in A Block

Stephanie Tan, the efficient and loving mummy of B Block

Ruth Ong, the super capable and caring mummy of C block

Chan Huan Jun, the ever-so-funny-and-witty joker and glue of D block

Nathalie Fernandez, the crazy high and enthusiastic rallier of E Block

Li Ruo Xi & Liu Xuan who agreed to holding the fort for IRC in Semester 1 and my SUPER ZAI Lim Jia Jing who planned HALLOWEEN so successfully and Chen Yang, for planning MAF and CNY so well too!

Ang Hui Li, for enthusiastically heading SAC, such a daunting task, yet, you did so well, am so proud of you! For doing the great job of balancing the juggling act with the ten thousand things you had to do serving Eusoff Hall.

Lim Nian Deng and Petrina Chew for just being sooooo crazy good at the things they do! Super thumbs up to Night Cycling (SOO FUN), Pyjamas Party, Eusoff Pageant Bash & Eusoff Fiesta! Thank you all Eusoffians, for bearing with me one more year, for being so patient with me, so that I continue to stand up where I fell, and continue to run again. It is my heart's desire that AY 13/14 here in Eusoff has been a rewarding and meaningful time for each and every one of you. This is said with the same vision running in my head, "Because Every Eusoffian Matters". You mattered in the decisions made, the things done and words said.

Of course, last but not least, thanks once again be to God, who has carried me through not one but two years of blood, sweat and tears, through the good times and bad.

Finally and this time, surely, it's time to pass the baton. And may it be, that generations and generations of SADs to come, that they will love the people and serve the people, from the bottom of their hearts, even when the going gets tough. In every thing we do, let us uphold the key values of Excellence & Harmony. Eusoff to the fore!

Former Master's Farewell

This year saw a significant change in Eusoff Hall mastership. Associate Professor Tan Tin Wee who had been a Master of Eusoff Hall since March 2003 had stepped down in December 2013 after many years of distinguished service. Under his outstanding mastership, Eusoff Hall has excelled in many ways ; be it in committee, community, voluntary, charity, sports and cultural activities. A Farewell Dinner was organised to pay tribute to A/Prof Tan for his selfless devotion and service to Eusoff Hall. The Hall residents, alumni, staff and SCRC members performed and gave tribute at the dinner. We may not see him walking around the blocks anymore, but his legacy in making Eusoff Hall lives up to its motto - 'Excellence and Harmony' will always be remembered by all Eusoffians.

Good bye Master A/Prof Tan; as you have said in last year's yearbook: "...once a Eusoffian, forever a Eusoffian". You are a true Eusoffian who will always be fondly remembered by Eusoffians forever!

MESSAGE OF ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR TAN TIN WEE HALL MASTER OF 2003-2013.

As the former Master of Eusoff Hall, I have had the privilege of ten years of education in residence. This may sound odd for the average reader who is a student. Why would the educator and Master of a Hall who is supposed to be "doing the educating", so to speak, talk about being educated himself? The older reader amongst you will no doubt appreciate in some measure what I am trying to get at.

My experience in Eusoff is nothing short of transformative. I came into the hall in 2003 with more than a fire in the belly, ready to transform Eusoff Hall, thinking that the resident years in Trinity College Cambridge ('82-'85), Max Rayne House of University College London ('85-'86), Kitchener House of Edinburgh University as SubWarden ('86-'90) and Sheares Hall NUS as Resident Fellow ('92-'03) would have equipped me with the skills to handle anything that came along. It is not that I didn't do anything for Eusoff Hall, which could be the subject of another lengthy article, which is not what this message is going to be about. It is about how life always brings us the unexpected and how we must always be ready to allow our cherished ideas to be challenged, and to learn from whatever opportunity we can get. All of us, however we wish to deny it, are works in progress, at almost every stage of our lives.

Founding Master Professor Andrew Tay had suggested I start work earlier than scheduled, and I agreed. At the end of that fateful first week in 2003, the SARS epidemic struck Singapore; Eusoff Hall was not exempt from all the emergency measures that had to be put in place to protect everyone. I had to learn pretty fast how to be a Crisis Incident Commander, long before the university put in place the by-now familiar SOP (standard operating procedures) for safety and risk management. Fortunately, Andrew Tay left behind a very cohesive team of RFs and Office staff. Thankfully, we were to survive that dark episode of Singapore unscathed.

I was trained under the tutelage of the masterful Master-maker, Professor Lawrence Chia, Master of Dunearn Road Hostel (DRH) and of Sheares Hall, who had had more than a dozen resident fellows and mentorees under him eventually step up to become Hall Masters. His motto of "partnership in leadership" for all RFs left a firm impression in me, but little did I know how difficult it was for me to bring it to life in Eusoff Hall. I had a lot to learn about how to manage as Master, our student leadership, our student community, our office executive team, and our esteemed resident and non-resident fellows, and of course, our Alumni, all of whom were most generous in their forbearance of my idiosyncracies and impatient drive to push initiatives and projects at double-quick time without pondering the impact, value and appropriateness for the Eusoffian context. I was to have a lot to learn.

One obvious mistake was to tinker with the well-worn formula of the Hall catering system. Counterintuitive to me, I was to eventually learn, after loss of one really dedicated Hall RF, and one upset Hall manager, and a series of unsuccessful caterers, that the minimum sum guarantee is the benchmark caterers in the industry used to set the standard and quality of the food catered. By modifying this crucial system in the bid to enhance the food quality and optimise the accounts, I had created the opposite effect. What a hard lesson to learn!

With our student leadership, more lessons were in store, but I quickly found out one way into the hearts of our students was through their stomachs. So there came about the traditional JCRC incoming-outgoing dinner and other dinners which I hosted, particularly the incoming-outgoing Student President one-on-one private dinner. Student elected leaders are the choice of the student community. To get Hall projects through, it had to go through them. Anything less than a situation of mutual respect and trust, was not going to work, certainly not in Eusoff Hall, where our students possessed a much stronger independent streak. The dinner events initiated and continued that harmonious relationship between SCRC and JCRC leadership which we enjoy today.

"Never too old to learn."

One early lesson I learnt, was that in dealing with highly talented individuals and the well-oiled machine of the student leadership, my job became increasingly that of "getting out of the way of talented people". Which is not to say one should be doing nothing, but to proactively identify ways in which we can allow our very talented students the space to breathe, to grow, to blossom and to spread their wings, with plenty of leeway and wiggle room. One remarkable example was Grace Koh's initiative to set up Eusoff Expeditions, which is now into its 9th year. My job had to become that of facilitator and introducer which was a difficult lesson to learn because of my hands-on approach to everything.

The next lesson was to come from IHG Director and subsequently JCRC President, Wong Sheau Yann, who was to dramatically transform the Sporting landscape of Eusoff from always being a runner-up to Temasek Hall since 1998, to a sustainable championship leader. The success of a leader is only in the success of her successor. While we may win a championship once, the true test of leadership is whether we have left the ship in better shape than before, and in a way which can sustain success in future generations. We were to proceed to clinch the IHG overall championship every year for the next six consecutive years, each leader in IHG handing over the baton to the next, and returning back to support the successor. Every leader must be fully invested in ensuring that his successor succeeds, wherever possible more than himself. That way, succession planning begins from day one of any leader's mandate. Hence in handing over the reins to Master Goh Beng Lan, I have reassured her on many occasions, my commitment to be fully invested in her success as the third Master of Eusoff Hall in Kent Ridge Campus.

Kindness and courtesy did not come naturally to a busy man, always in a rush to complete a thousand tasks, such as myself. I had been a slave-driving leader before in many of my other projects, many award-winning ones, in which I was a slave-driver to myself just as much if not much more, but that was poor excuse for treating people less than respectfully. Till today, I frequently have to apologise to my former staff for my less than honourable conduct, whenever I meet them, and whenever I think about them and how I treated them. There is a way of setting high standards without unsettling others, and the art of good leadership is not to succeed on the bloodied shoulders of people who look up to our leadership, as much as our own shoulders have been bloodied too. There is always a way to do things in a much nicer way. I am still struggling to learn this lesson, but I have changed significantly, not enough, but nevertheless sufficiently for former colleagues to notice, less harsh, less abrasive, more measured, and calibrated. Perhaps mellowed with age, as they say.

These are the lessons that have changed me. More to come I sure...

And I should welcome them as life changing lessons. To all Eusoffians, perhaps, there may be a lesson or two for you as I recount my own lessons. Set high standards of excellence for yourself as you go through life with its ups and downs. Avoid mediocrity. Be a beacon of light and hope for others to follow, but bear it about you with uncommon humility. It will be to you better than anything else as you remember our motto, Excellence and Harmony.

Orientation Heads 13/ 14

1. What is the main difference between this year (AY13/14) and last year(AY/12/13) EHOC? Does it result in many challenges and obstacles? If yes how did the Program team manage to overcome them?

We came up with most, if not all of our game ideas from scratch. As such, we spent more time on fine-tuning the games and getting approval to go ahead with the activities. Some new activities we had were Senior-Junior Night on Day 2 and beach games on Day 3.

Senior-Junior Night was a chance for the freshies to get to know seniors beyond the OGLs and the Programmers. It also allowed them to bond together with other freshies to compete against the seniors for that night's activities. Beach games also helped to hype up the freshies, and travelling to and from the beach with their OGs helped to bond the freshies together even more.

2. Some of the most memorable memories of this year Eusoff Camp?

The end of Senior-Junior Night on Day 2, where everyone stood together in a circle in the Function Hall. It was really heart-warming, and we felt that it was one of our major highlights of camp.

3. Any personnel you would like to give special credits to?

Every Eusoffian. But especially my programmers (Including Meng Hang and Gang Yi). YOU GUYS ARE THE BEST!

4. Your experience as the Program Heads (handling the stress, motivating the team etc)

Those were the BEST 3 Months of my life!

5. Any advice for the upcoming Program Head(s)?

Make sure your secretary is like Sylvia.

Rag Day

Lim Ee Hwee & Cheryl Ko
Rag Heads 13/14

1. What is the main difference between this year (AY13/14) and last year Rag? Does it result in many challenges and obstacles? If yes how did the Rag team manage to overcome them?

The main difference this year is the size of the float as well as the budget. The float was downscaled and must be built on a prop-wise basis. In other words, the float must be segmented and built separately before being joined together to form a complete entity. This was quite a challenge to our engineering team as the segmentation reduced the structure's strength and stability. It was because of the float size limitation and the budget constraint that rendered the renting of a lorry as the base of our float not a viable idea this year. To overcome the base problem, we resorted to building our unique shell base. Overall, we had a smaller team and therefore the reduction of the float size partially came as a blessing in disguise.

2. Some of the most memorable memories of this year Rag.

Every moment in RAG is memorable. Every minute we spent together brainstorming, planning, building & playing can still be vividly remembered even though months have passed. And these memories will continue to last for the rest of our lifetime. It was heartening to see some of us from strangers become good friends and others from good friends become even better. The friendships forged through RAG will never stop existing and that is why we cherish every moment in RAG and enjoy it to the fullest.

3. Any personnel you would like to give special credits to?

We would like to give special commendation to Zhao Hang, and Nathalie, who put in all their blood, sweat, and tears into ensuring that RAG was a success. Not to mention also Dianne & Charlene, who spent many sleepless nights tailoring costumes for all the dancers. Besides, we are very thankful to Vy, one of the very committed, enthusiastic & cheerful detailers considering our literally small detailing team. We are also very grateful to our Temasek counterpart, Henry, from whom we have learnt a lot about RAG and it is our honour working together with him.

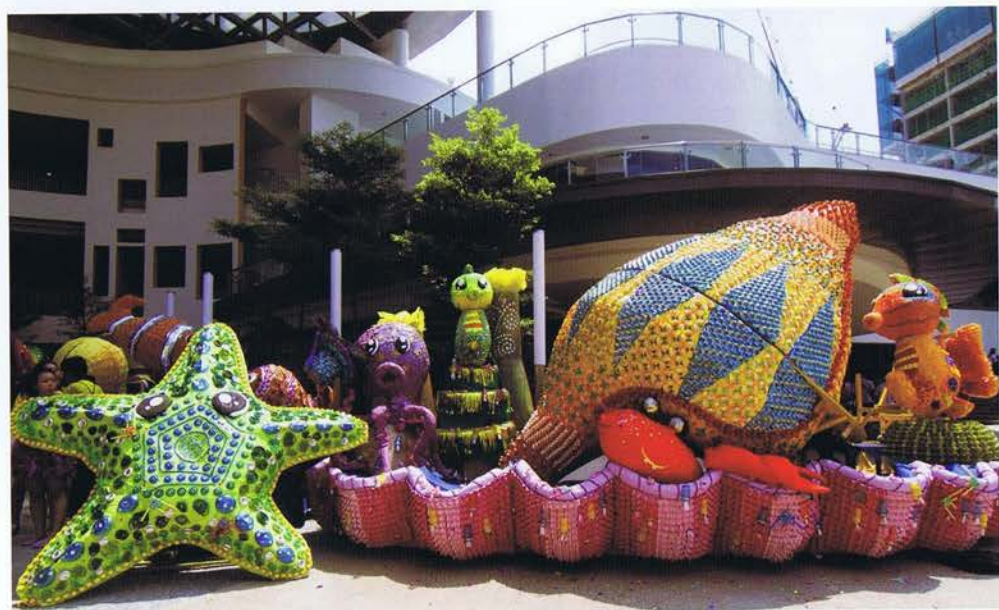

In addition to our team members, we would like to express our utmost gratitude to our senior raggers who came down on a weekend to help out with our detailing & rehearsal as well as to give us their invaluable comments and advice. Last but not least, we would like to thank our former Master, the RF in-charge, RELAC & hall office for their support & guidance along the way.

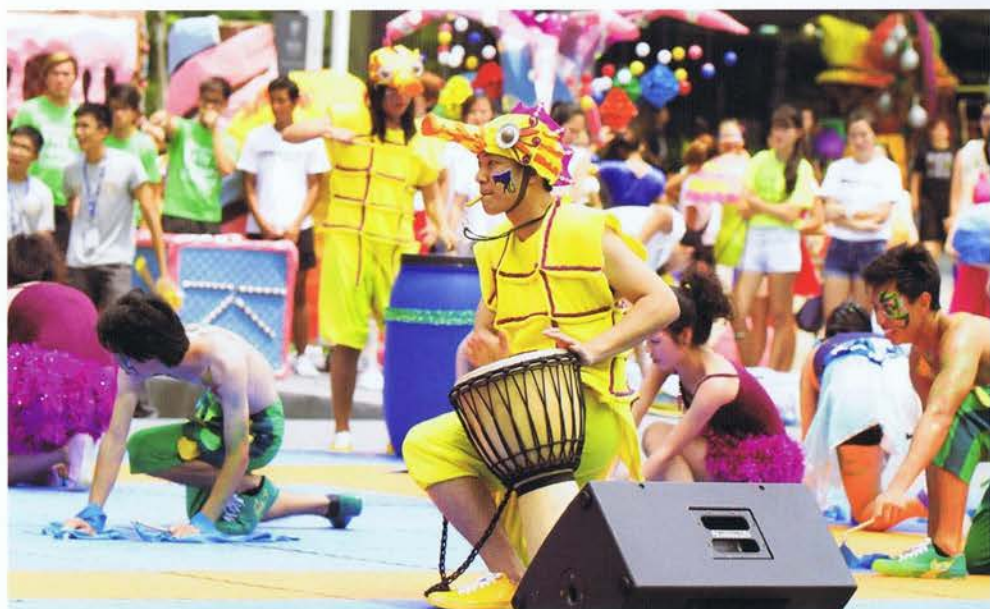

4. Your experience as the Rag Heads (handling the stress, motivating the team etc)

It was a tough three-month journey, with long working hours, countless of sleepless nights and a shortage of manpower coupled with a hazy weather condition which disrupted our outdoor float building activities for almost a week. It was really hard to keep each and every one of the team motivated but we believe it was the common goal we shared and the perseverance that helped us pull through the very critical period. That being said, nothing can beat the feeling when the float finally greets the world. At that moment, everything you have been working on for the past three months gets showcased, and it's a bittersweet feeling because you no longer need to work into the wee hours of the morning, but it's something that its absence will leave a gaping hole in your daily lives.

5. Any advice for the upcoming Rag Head(s)?

No matter how tough it gets, just make sure you enjoy every single moment of the entire process and from there, you will find your passion for RAG and grow as a person! Don't be afraid to ask for help too! We will always be on standby for you. Roger!

Flag Day

Vivian Gan & Edmund Tan
Flag Heads 13/14

1. What is the main difference between this year (AY13/14) and last year (AY/12/13) Flag? Does it result in many challenges and obstacles? If yes how did the Flag team manage to overcome them?

We changed the structure of the committee to a large extent. Last year, we had the whole team working together on every item, whereas this year we broke the team down to sub-committees. This made the committee more efficient as objectives were set for the respective sub-committees to achieve the overall goal for Flag.

2. Some of the most memorable memories of this year Flag.

We had a very good day camp which managed to raise a lot of funds. I felt that we had a very good bonding of the team as a whole which let us work together very much better.

3. Any personnel you would like to give special credits to?

The whole team deserves full credit together. It was truly a full team effort.

4. Your experience as the FFlag Heads (handling the stress, motivating the team etc)

The team was very responsible and responsive towards the tasks which helped us a lot. The period leading up to Flag Day was very stressful for both of us, but thankfully we were well prepared so we managed to pull through.

5. Any advice for the upcoming Flag Head(s)?

Be open to opinions from members.

Chingay

Cheryl Ko
Chingay Head 13/ 14

1. Described your comm this year in 3 words, explain.

Dedicated, motivated, and hardworking. I chose these three words because without fail, my committee would be starting work at 10am during every single day of the December vacation. Although at times the team morale was low, they would always be there and doing their best.

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your comm?

I think one of the most memorable moments was when the comm finished making all 200 head gears - there was definitely a sense of relief given that the head gears were very intricate in nature and each piece took a considerable amount of time to produce.

The other memorable event was on the final day of Chingay, because at that very moment we realised that we wouldn't have any more late nights in the rag room.

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved.

I think the main goals that Chingay achieved was that despite seen as being a tough job, the members still had fun no matter what, and I think that is what matters the most.

4. Any outstanding member?

I would like to take this chance to thank Meng Deren and Liang Chao, who put in a lot more effort than required.

5. Your vision for the comm and next year head?

Just have fun - Chingay is more often than not a once in a lifetime experience, so make sure you and your committee enjoy every single moment of it. By doing Chingay, and having a vested interest in Chingay, it'll change your life and the way you look at things.

GEL Camp

The Gathering Eusoff Leaders (GEL) Camp was held over 2 days during recess week in September 2013. An event that brings Eusoffians from all the various CCAs together to share, to discuss, to have fun and most importantly to learn from one another. With the emphasis of developing and nurturing leadership potential, the activities ranged from playing board games, talks by alumni to station games outside of hall, all with a central theme of reflection, self-discovery and learning to lead, culminating in the finale of a BBQ for all to enjoy. Through the various activities, it also provided a platform for networking and making friends, forging bonds that will no doubt become part of a defining experience in not only the leadership experience but also the Eusoff Hall life experience.

Night Cycling

Underneath the soft moonlight away from the harsh piercing sun, a memorable night of adventure awaits. Organised by the Eusoff Hall Special Projects Team (SPT), Night Cycling 2013 was held at the end of a school week on an October Friday night.

Riding with the cool moist air, feeling the wind in your hair as you journey across Singapore sounds fun. But it would not be the same without the company of friends. It is the people that share your joy and laughter that brightens up the journey. From stopping over to grab a bite to capturing memories together in photos, any fatigue or sleepiness is non-existent and it all contributes to the fantastic experience of taking part in night cycling!

Halloween

Halloween. We had 3 different events for Halloween. It is a new initiative for us and the hall residents. We had a haunted house, caramel apples and scary movie screening. The haunted house was definitely the highlight of the festival as it is FUN! Both the crews and participants had fun on that day. Besides that, the caramel apples were surprisingly quite well-received by the residents as it is something new and special. Overall, the events were all fun and interesting!!!

Talent Night

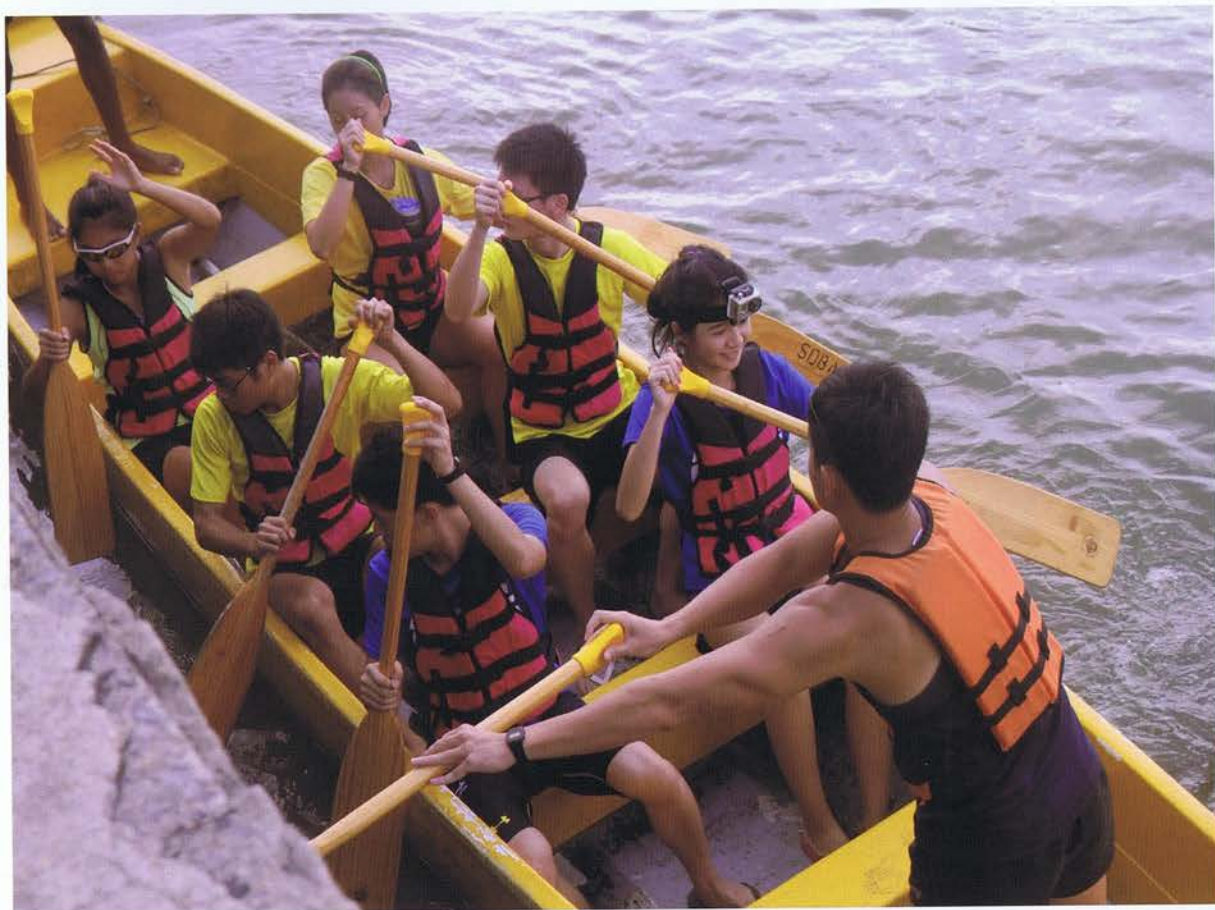

Talent Night, as the name suggests, is the night for Eusoffians to show their great talents. The event was hosted by our respectable seniors Bryan and Ivan Ng, and it was held at the multipurpose court (MPC), which is behind the A block. The night was one used to remember with great music from our very own bands and several group performances from the respective blocks. The judges were members from the committee (CEMC) that organized the special event. We were honored to watch dramatic dances, listen to beautiful songs and appreciate creative performances. No one will forget the night since it is such a great night that everyone has an opportunity to be a star. Moreover, not only did Talent Night serve as a platform for residents to showcase their various and outstanding abilities but it also relieved immense stress that was building up due to the upcoming mid-term examinations.

Sportsman Bonding

Sportsmen bonding took place on the 13th and 14th of December. Conceived as a platform for Eusoffians of all stripes to get together, this SMC organized event started with a dragon boat session at Marina reservoir. The general consensus at the end of the 2 hour session was that everyone had had a wonderful time. Then we spent lots of time in a Tai Restaurant.

Shortly after, the sportsmen proceeded to West Coast Park to engage in a dazzling variety of sports, including, but not limited to, Frisbee and soccer.

Finally, the sportsmen retired to Eusoff in the evening; The rest of the night was spent consuming delicious packed lunches and viewing the "Blind Side" in the function hall.

The following day, our sportspeople headed down to both the MPC and SRC for their scheduled friendly matches with our partner hall, NTU HALL 2, Games played included basketball (m), (f), volleyball, netball and softball. By all accounts, we were relatively successful. We defeated the opposing netball team 9-1 and concluded the game after only two quarters.

Saturday ended on a relaxing note as the sportspeople made their way post-haste to A1 for a barbeque. Thus, did Sportsmen bonding 2013 conclude.

Eusoff Fiesta

The fiesta was a fun-filled event where a variety of stalls were set up by our fellow Eusoffians and external vendors. The foyer area was filled with mouth-watering food and drink stalls as well as game stalls for entertainment. There was also a flea market where inexpensive and second-hand goods were sold. Lastly, to top it off there were also performances by our very own culture groups.

The funds generated from this event were channelled back to Eusoff to support Eusoff Voluntary Corps (EVC), Eusoff Expeditions and the Eusoff Bursary. These three committees promoted social service through activities such as community volunteerism, caring for the needy and the less fortunate. SPT decided to raise funds to support our own community service committees through Eusoff Fiesta so that they could continue to provide financial, emotional and physical support to the people in need.

55th Anniversary

Celebrating 55th years of Eusoff:
1958 - 2013

2013 marked the 55th Anniversary of Eusoff. To commemorate this significant celebration, many notable events were organized throughout the year.

We started our celebrations with a homecoming visit to the former building of Eusoff College at Evans Road on Saturday, 6 July 2013. Eusoffians walked down memory lane of the old college grounds to reminisce about their great memories of life in the college before enjoying a tea reception at The Wine Company located within the premise. In the later part of the evening, Eusoffians adjourned to the Bukit Timah campus for the NUS Homecoming event.

Among the celebratory projects to commemorate the 55th Anniversary that the Hall has embarked on is the publication of a coffee table book. Entitled "Keeping The Torch Ablaze" the book illustrated the essence of the Eusoff experiences of 43 selected Eusoffians in various professions, backgrounds and life journeys. Among prominent Eusoffians who shared their Eusoff experience are First Lady, Mrs Mary Tan, HE Ambassador Chan Heng Chee and Honorable Justice Lai Siu Chiu. Another noble project that the Hall has embarked on to commemorate this anniversary is the fund raising initiative to endow the "Eusoff 55th Anniversary Bursary Fund" to help needy Eusoffians.

The finale event of the anniversary celebration was the Eusoff Reunion held on 6 February 2014 in conjunction with the Chinese New Year festive celebrations. A collaborative effort between Eusoff Hall and Eusoff Alumni Association, the Reunion attracted many Eusoffians near and far to return back to Eusoff to reconnect, re-bond with their old friends and to reminisce the good old days during their college and hall life. The programme for the evening included the unveiling of the 55th Anniversary Book A special segment was organised where several copies of the Eusoff 55th Anniversary Book signed by former Principals of Eusoff College as well as former and current Masters of Eusoff Hall together with featured Eusoffians who were present during the night, were auctioned off as part of the fundraising efforts for the Anniversary Fund. Mr Tan Ying Hsien, son of the late Dr Nalla Tan, kindly donated bottles of wines for the occasion.

Outstanding member:

Jiajing and Angeline who are new to the sport but improved tremendously. Also, Priscilla performed very well for both her matches.

My vision for the sport and for the next year captain is to get more people to try the sport out and promote it more in Eusoff.

BADMINDTON (M)

3 words of this year:

Serious, Fun, Bonded.

Most memorable event :

It is really heartwarming to see our teammates cheering for each other during IHG, as it is not usually seen in individual sports.

Performances:

Yes, but could have been better. We were against KE and KR for prelims and both halls have IVP players so it was really tough. We did not proceed to semis as our line-up was not favourable for both matches.

Outstanding member:

Singles Player (Yong Jia) Yong Jia has shown that he has the resilient to fight on no matter how tough the opponent is. His fighting spirit is really commendable. Doubles Player (Simon) Simon is an experienced badminton player who played for his secondary school and Junior College. He has the skills and experience to lead the team next year.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

keep fit, keep playing, keep improving.

BASKETBALL (F)

Captain - Umi Amirah Bte Marzuki

Team Manager - Peh Zhun Sen

3 words of this year:

Magical, Family and Trust.

Memorable event:

When we played against KR and won them in their faces, and the eusoffians coming down to support our finals! They never stopped cheering for us till the last second and I am very thankful for that.

Outstanding member:

TAMMY THE FAIRY, MAGICAL HANDS VEBRON JAMES, LEELILIXUAN, WANTIAN CURRY, JINGWEN.

Vision for the team and next year head:

Just have fun and play ball. Always play ball because you like it, it's not because you have the talent or not, but for the passion. Vision for next year's captain: Just go all out, have fun and be a team. Funny Stories: -When Sirong (jersey no 88) played in IHG against KE7 match, one of the male bballers (Gangyi) said to the rest of his team, "Si rong, 88, my favourite player". and we tease them together ever since. i think my team uses up a lot of sports tape, so please smc more sports tape thanks

BASKETBALL (M)

Captain - Lim Zhi Guang Lester

Team Manager - Lim Jing Wen

3 words of this year:

Dedicated. Family.

Memorable event:

Basketball Camp. This was what made the team even more bonded together and we had like 4 trainings in a day during the 2 day camp and no one complained. In fact, they extended training by an hour, not wanting to go for lunch/dinner. Even though we trained hard, we had lots of fun too.

Vision for the team and next year head:

I vision eusoff basketball team to continue to grow individually and as a team. Everyone has learned how to play as a team, trusting each other and it can only get better from there. I'm not sure who next year's captain will be, see who wanna step up to be the captain and who the current freshies will be comfortable with i guess. Either way, I am not worried as we have players that are very capable to take on the role as captain.

FLOORBALL (F)

Captain – Thong Wen May Julia

Team Manager - Lee Jian Ler

3 Words of this year:

Spirited, Determined, Brave.

Most memorable Event:

Every goal scored was memorable. The overwhelming sensation of joy at putting ourselves on the scoreboard was comforting and rewarding.

Performance:

There are always high expectations for Eusoff floorball girls. But what matters is how we take the defeat, how hard we choose to come back fighting. We could accept it; accept that we were a not-bad team that just couldn't win matches, or we could focus our efforts on building a future squad that can. Perhaps being just 'good' is just not enough. Striving to be good is not a winning mentality.

Outstanding member:

This year Cheryl Tare is the most outstanding, simply because she takes the competition seriously and doesn't let anything bog her down.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

I hope that the new batches of Eusoff floorballers find their hunger to play and hunger to win. Whatever it takes for them, because I want people to enjoy playing the sport I play.

FLOORBALL (M)

Captain – Yun Sol
Team Manager - Laura Tan

3 words of this year:
Dedicated, Passionate, Determined.

Most memorable event:
I cannot really think of a memorable event.

Performances:
Judging by the result alone, it was of course not up to expectation. We trained hard and I know from deep within that we could have gone all the way.

Outstanding member:
There was no sole outstanding member and I would be doing the team injustice if I was to pick such a member. Instead, I would like to commend all the freshmen for being tremendously committed and that was outstanding in my opinion.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:
I hope next year captain can take more ownership of the team than I did and the team should always continue trying to achieve a passing way of floorball and always pursue improvement.

HANDBALL (F)

Captain – Lim Jing Wen

Team Manager - Simon Lim

3 Words of this year:

The semi-final against RH is the most memorable event for our team. I saw the spark in every player's eyes and they really played their hearts out that day. No one ever gave up and we just kept trying and trying.

Performance:

We expected to make it to finals but we failed. However, I'm still very proud of each and every handballer, especially freshies who only picked up handball this year. They improved a lot since day one and we will certainly come back stronger next year.

Outstanding member:

The seniors, such as Ruiwen and her body twisting moves, Lixuan and her never-say-die spirit, Big Mel and her amazing saves, Wantian and her fierce fighting spirit. As for the freshies, Priscilla certainly made it to be the most improved player and others, include Sharkleen and Mel.

3 words of this year:

SOCCER(M)

Captain – Nguyen Thai Duong

3 Words of this year:

It has exceeded our expectations in a way.

Performance:

The team performed up to expectations. We were never a strong team and there were too many star players from the other halls. Nevertheless, in the face of fierce competition, we harnessed our fear into strength and trained harder.

Outstanding member:

Jianler. He really helped me organize the team and helped me source for freshies. It is no doubt that he is a star in rising.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

I hope the netball team could make it further in IHG than we did. I hope we can do better next year! I hope someone from our team will step up and be the next year captain.

SOFTBALL

Captain – Kang Ha Min

Team Manager - Mellissa Chia

Most memorable event:

The last round robin match against TH. It was probably the most memorable because we managed to destroy their game right from the start and really played as a team throughout the game.

Performances:

Our aim was to win the gold medal for the 5th consecutive time but we did not perform up to standard in the finals against KR. We might have improved significantly over the past few months but KR wanted it more and they delivered in the finals.

Outstanding member:

Daniel Yee Guo Hao. Attendance better than the captain.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

Play with no regrets. I don't care about who will win gold for softball next year but I just don't want to see anyone having any sort of regret after the last game. Play every game like it's your last and the results will come eventually. For the captain, just make sure you prepare the team early. Bear in mind that you can never please everyone, so just stick to whatever decision you make.

SQUASH (F)

Captain – Ho Hui Rong Crystal
Team Manager - Wee Yan Ru Mervyn

3 Words of this year:

The A team.

Most memorable event:

There was once when we trained during midnight and all of us were really tired and sleepy. But we still persevered and continued chasing the balls like wild dogs. When training ended, our legs all turned jelly and we just laid on the squash court floor as if it was our beds.

Performance:

We surpassed expectations and escaped the fate of being a one-point sport. Looking at them fighting for every point and chasing after every ball without losing their cool, made me absolutely touched and proud of my team.

Outstanding member:

Priscilla. She joined the latest but she totally sparkled in the team.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

GOLD. Definitely to achieve the championship. We all want it badly. Next year's captain..... Esther. Her commitment is really commendable.

Most memorable event:

Winning this year's IHG Squash Finals and overcoming all odds to be the Champions.

Outstanding member:

All of my players are outstanding.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

Have fun with the team in trainings and build camaraderie as it is very important. I will never forget my team because of the strong camaraderie that we had from day one. As long as everyone strives for the common goal together, it is definitely possible, even against all odds. And of course, ALWAYS PLAY TO WIN.

SWIMMING (F)

Captain – Chong Ren Jean
Team Manager - Ho Zheng Yong

3 Words of this year:

Most memorable event:

Everybody breaking personal best timings during IHG!

Performance:

We exceeded expectations.

Outstanding member:

SWIMMING (M)

Captain – Chan Huan Jun

Team Manager - Loh Tze Rong Vanessa

3 Words of this year:

Entertaining, Committed, Surprising.

Most memorable event :

There was this swimming camp we had in the one month break between semester 1 and semester 2. It was retarded. We trained approximately 3 times a day and all of us almost died.

Performances:

I'm very very proud of what they achieved. I'll make no bones about it, we never expected to do this well.

Outstanding member:

Everyone's outstanding. Everyone pulled their weight and to single anyone out would be unfair to the rest at this point in time. Finally, to survive one swim training is in itself unimpressive.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

Have fun with your teammates and really get to know them as people. I'm definitely going to step down as a Captain. To the next captain: I hope you find whatever it is you need to keep you going for 5 months or so because, well...you'll understand when the time comes.

TABLE TENNIS (F)

Captain – Li Yahui

Team Manager - Nguyen Lam

3 Words of this year:

Resilient, Faithful, Passionate.

Most memorable event:

There were so many of them but the most memorable event to me was the moment when I saw our opponents' line-up in the finals.

Performance:

We were putting up our best fight against all odds.

Outstanding member:

Everyone! Especially, I would like to give my sincere appreciation towards Chen Yang, Gejing and Xiaoying who were brave enough to fill in our last single when we needed them desperately.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

Apparently we have very strong opponents to face next year. With our golden double, Connie and Zhiying, graduating this semester, the table tennis team will surely need to recruit experienced players to fill in their positions. I believe that any of the year-2 players, Cheryl, Joyce and Jyening, will be able to lead the team in our pursuit of the gold medal in 14/15 IHG.

TABLE TENNIS (M)

Captain – Woon Khai Jhin
Team Manager - Chow Shan Ping

3 Words of this year:
Very very good.

Most memorable event:
Sadly, I can't think of any memorable event that happened to my team. But a fun fact about this EH table tennis team is that we have never celebrated throughout the whole IHG tournament.

Performances:
We won and dominated every hall that played against us; there is nothing else more I can ask for. It is a pleasant thing for me to hear and see other halls doing everything they can to avoid playing with us.

Outstanding member:
All the IVP/EX-IVP players (Sean, Chris, Xiu Ming and Xuan Kai) have performed up to their standard. They attended all the trainings even though they don't need it, and even helped me to train all the other players.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:
My vision as a captain is to let every hall to be fearful of EH when IHG table tennis is mentioned. As for next year's captain, maybe Sean?

TENNIS (F)

Most memorable event:

One night after training, TM Joanne surprised all of us with 2 boxes of pizza right at the tennis courts. It was pleasant rewards after a hard night's training.

Performance:

Yes it was. We might not have even made it past the group stage but we topped the group eventually, losing only narrowly in the semi-finals. I am proud of the team.

Outstanding member:

Luong has a lot of potential. With more experience and exposure he can be a threat in the team.

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

Although we have a few graduating seniors, we now have a strong core of freshies. If we train hard and train smart, the gold medal can come into our hands next year.

TOUCH RUGBY (M)

Captain – Ng You Hao

Team Manager - Luisa Soon

3 Words of this year:

Fun, Motivated, Determined.

Most memorable event:

It has to be during the day of IHG when I had more than 6 players down due to injuries and cramps.

Performance:

I would say to a certain extent. We were aiming for the gold but a mix of many factors resulted in us falling short of our expectations. However, I was really touched that my team put in so much effort and did not give up until the very last second.

Outstanding member:

I would nominate Amos and Gabriel. As a first year captain, I did not have much experience and they really helped me a lot. They are also super good at this sport!

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

I wanted the team to be bonded and everyone to love the game, which I think it was achieved.

I would nominate Amos because he is more than capable for this role but I do not think he will be able to due to his commitments

TRACK

Captain – Jacob Yao

Team Manager - Teh Qun You

3 Words of this year:

My best team!

Most memorable event:

On a personal note, it was when I dropped the baton during my only race and only competition for IHG!! But as a team, it was when we took our team pictures, frantically looking for a photographer from EusoffWorks. We just kept camwhoring, not because we were camwhores (maybe just a little).

Performance:

Honestly, no. We could have whopped some ass that day, but, stuff happened. We will definitely come back stronger next season. I'll personally see to that!

Outstanding member:

It would have to be the seniors. Aaron, Yuwei, Charis, and Rachel (who seems to be able to do everything. seriously, she clocked in one of the best timings for 100m and 400m.).

Vision for the sport and next year captain:

Vision for the sport next year would be to TRAIN FOR PASSING EARLIER, EVEN FOR 400M. We need to get a core team up and running (haha pun) as early in the season as possible.

VOLLEYBALL (F)

Captain - Teo Kai Ling

Team Manager - Teoh Zhi Hao

3 Words of this year:

Has the Potential.

Most memorable event :

I would say the friendly match with Raffles Hall. It was memorable as the experienced seniors had to leave earlier that night after the first few sets, so the last set was played mostly by the newcomers. We won and we enjoyed that game a lot. As the seniors weren't around giving any pressure and the girls naturally made fewer mistakes with less stress.

VOLLEYBALL (M)

Captain - Weng Yixiang

Team Manager - Ong Jye Ning

Performances: (Volleyball (F))

No, as there was a last min change in the list use for IHG. Instead of using IVP list, Sunig list was used. With the sudden notice, the formation of our team was changed drastically and there was little time to train with the new formation.

Outstanding member: (Volleyball (F))

I would say Melissa and Joan.

Vision for the sport and next year captain: (Volleyball (F))

We will win back our champion title. I'm pretty sure that we are not weaker than any other teams, and I trust that the girls will train even harder and get it back next year!

Volunteerism

EUSOFF VOLUNTARY CORPS

Ruth Ong Yi Jing & Amelia Ng Jing Jing

EVC Directors 13 / 14

1. Describe your comm this year in 3 words, explain.

Heart. Hands. Happiness.

Our motto for our committee this year is "Every Volunteer Cares". With that, we hope that our volunteers serve from their hearts and go the extra mile willingly to make a positive difference in the lives of our beneficiaries. Our volunteers also derive happiness from seeing the smiles on the faces of our beneficiaries.

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your comm?

The most memorable event was the Thanksgiving celebration organised by Salvation Army. We were inspired by the kids at The Haven who, despite coming from complicated backgrounds, are optimistic and make the most out of what they have to pursue their dreams. That night, we witnessed the showcase of their various talents such as singing and band performance, and were awed by their passion in doing what they love. Also, upon arriving at The Haven, some of our members were welcomed by their tutees who ran towards them excitedly. It is heartwarming to see the bond established between our volunteers and their tutees (-':

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved.

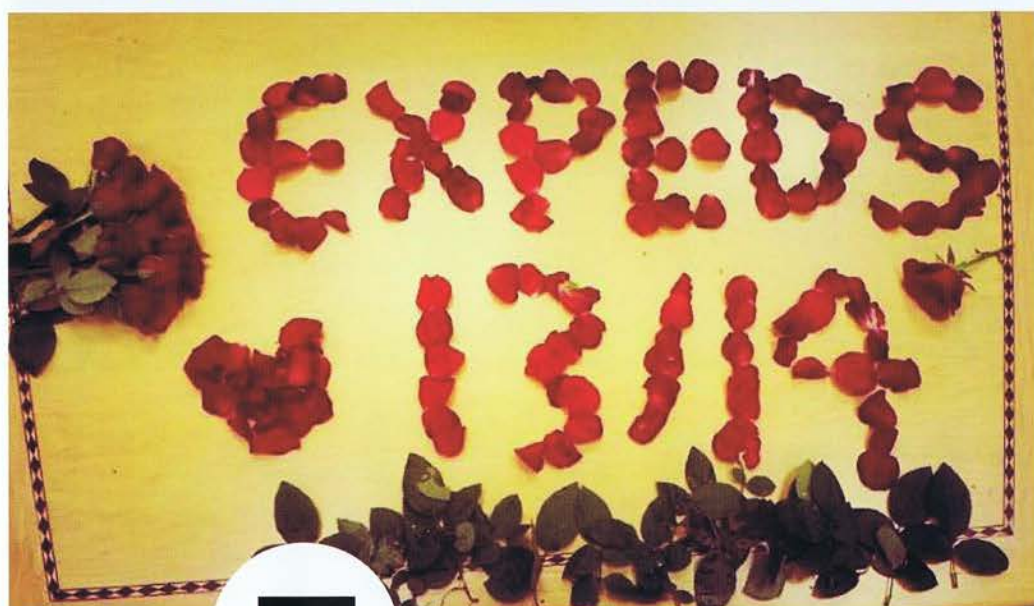

We managed to promote bonding among our members as well as achieve self-sufficiency for our annual Grant-A-Wish project. We organised our first pledging/fund-raising event outside of hall, which saw the unprecedented collaboration between our Salvation Army members and the Elderly Service wing. This allowed us to fulfill the wishes of both the elderly and the kids through funds that our volunteers have raised, instead of asking for sponsorships as per previous years, which made the gifts all the more meaningful.

4. Any outstanding member?

Cliché as it is, we think that every volunteer is outstanding in his/her own way as our members contribute in their different ways to positively impact the lives of our beneficiaries.

5. Your vision for the comm and next year's head?

For our volunteers to continue serving with passion and dedication and to be proud of what they do. Next year's head: WE ARE WATCHING YOU B-)

Expeditions

Loo Rui Yong, Lin Youxuan Kiral & Lim Yu Xiang Amos

Expeditions Heads 13 / 14

1. Describe your committee this year in 3 words, explain.

Family, United and Nice. The bonding in our committee is quite strong and we are just like a family. In short, it is fun!

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your committee?

We have not had any exceptionally memorable event during the past semester but I foresee that the upcoming VDay (Valentine's Day) will be the one. Besides our typical preparations, we have to compete with DP for sales and manpower this year, which are the two most crucial factors for each fund raising event. Coupled with higher sales targets, the odds are stacked against us. Therefore, in order to pull off this event successfully, we need the commitment of each individual. Furthermore, the seniors also come down to offer help and guidance to the committee. In addition, it's amazing how bonded the team is currently, and we have not even left the ground for Cambodia. For us, seeing how bonded and committed our members are pushes us to greater heights, too.

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having achieved.

Team-bonding is one of our goals this year. We focused a lot on this aspect during the past semester as we wanted members to feel comfortable among each other. This would translate to a better working relationship over in Cambodia. Other goals such as experiencing service learning or to find the 'moment' for each member can only be achieved in Cambodia as we are unable to replicate the same emotions here. For the tangible goals such as the specific number of toilets/ wells/ houses that we are contributing, it will depend on our fund raising results.

4. Any outstanding member?

Probably the two most outstanding sales pitchers we have are Qiuxuan and Natasha. Sales always shoot up exponentially whenever they report for their shifts. And Joel does well in his impeccable planning of the Vday Fundraising event.

5. Your vision for the committee and next year head?

For the committee, I hope that each member can find their own understanding of these 3 words -- Lived, Loved, Learnt. For the next head, I want to say "Do not be afraid in finding your own direction in leading your team. Not everyone does things the same way. And if needed, you can always count on the seniors for help. Expeditions will also be a committee with a purpose, so always look towards that purpose, follow it diligently and the rest of your members will follow suit".

A Cappella

3 Words of this year:

Passionate, fun,
talented

Most memorable event:

I must say the most memorable moment that we had was ACARAOKE - an outing for us just to enjoy each other's company, sing songs and have fun. Due to the fact that Aca practices are held in groups, the whole CCA does not get many opportunities to get together, so that was a great time for everyone to get to know each other a little bit better while doing what we do best - sing and have fun.

Goals that your band has achieved this year:

I definitely wanted Aca to maintain the standards that have been set over the years, especially when it comes to performances, and from the performances that we have put up so far, I feel that we have definitely done that.

Nguyen Dinh Viet Anh
A Cappella Head 13 / 14

Any outstanding member:

I would like to give a huge shoutout and thank you to the seniors: Xianyou, Kirsten, Pamela and Thilaiga, who are not only super talented, but also very creative at coming up with great ideas and suggestions even when they do not have to. Without them and their contributions, my job would have been a lot more difficult. Plus, they always bring great energy to practices and are very encouraging, which helps a lot in crunch time.

Your vision for the comm and next year's head:

Firstly, I hope that Aca members will have more exposure and training so that everyone can get to learn more and improve. I also hope that A Cappella will continue to be a CCA that all members are proud to be a part of, and continue to put up great performances for everyone in Eusoff and NUS to enjoy.

BAND

3 Words of this year:

Eat. Sleep. Jam.

Most memorable event:

There were a couple of awesome times, but one of the best would be seeing Eusoff Dance's choreography to Eusoff Band's cover of "Radioactive" and "Young and Beautiful" take shape. It was pretty intense.

Any outstanding member:

Victor Goh. Never turning down a gig despite his commitments, Victor always enjoyed what he was doing and put in 100% into everything. Your vision for the comm and next year head?

Surendran Jayasundar
Band Head 13 / 14

Goals that your band has achieved this year:

One problem this year was heavy hall involvement from a lot of our members. Now that DP and IHG are over, we're really looking forward to going full steam ahead and working on our music.

Your vision for the comm and next year's head:

Music for Eusoffians, by Eusoffians. Many moments sitting along our hall's corridors, or balconies, while our voices and guitars reverberate throughout the blocks, we realise that our favourite audience is, and will always be a crowd of Eusoffians. We do hope more musicians step up and see the joy in performing for everyone in the years ahead.

CHOIR

3 Words of this year:

Dedicated, Jolly,
Exceptional

Most memorable event:

During the Christmas season this year, we went to NUH to carol for the patients staying. Most of us get to go home and enjoy a sumptuous meal with our loved ones, but these patients are not that lucky. When we first reached NUH, we can really feel the gloomy atmosphere but then we began to sing. Some of the patients think little of us, but some enjoyed every bit of our singing. Nevertheless, even if it is only one patient, it is really heartwarming to see that we are able to make their day and share the joy of Christmas with them.

Goals that your band has achieved this year:

This year we are able to perform not only for our passion but also to benefit the community.

Lim Nian Deng
Choir Head 13 / 14

Any outstanding member:

Ka Woon, our dedicated conductor. Being the Choir Head the previous year, she knows everything about choir inside-out. Although not formally trained as a conductor, she learns quickly and always works hard to improve her conducting skills. She always leads the choir with a very clear goal and always go the extra mile to help ensure that practices in choir goes smoothly and effectively. Despite juggling with her other commitments in hall, like JCRC, she still priorities choir and is a highly regarded and dedicated member to the choir family.

Your vision for the comm and next year's head:

Choir hopes to share the passion of music with everyone. Choral music is a very different genre and we hope that through our performances and hard work, we will be able to inspire more people to appreciate choral music. Also we hope that each and every member that join us, will truly enjoy singing together as a choir, understand that music transcends all boundaries and never be afraid to sing out your passion.

DANCE PRODUCTION

3 Words of this year:

Talented,
Dedicated,
Spontaneous.

Most memorable event:

Final run during last piecing. I remembered that performers were in show mode that drew me away from munching my mouth-filled breakfast even though I was hungry then and had watched them so many times before. I told myself "these guys are ready" in the middle of their run and if I had to pay to watch them in that very run, I would. That's how good they are.

Any outstanding member:

Stephanie Tan. She takes pride as the treasurer with thousands of receipts despite her other equally heavy commitments. But what stands out is her perseverance to remain in her items even though her toe nail got flipped up. Imagine the pain, yet she was laughing about it.

Terence Jerome Lo
Megan Chew
Dance Production Producers 13 / 14

Goals that your band has achieved this year:

Our goals were love yourself, love your friends and love the audience. I thought we didn't do enough to keep our members injury-free, so in a way it wasn't achieved. In fact, my heart tore when I hear my members' body parts - toe nail, legs, ankles, face, last finger, chin, ears, teeth - got dented and injured here and there, but accidents do happen and I'm glad all are coping well.

Your vision for the comm and next year's head:

My vision for the committee is to stay together, and work towards the goal of bringing the theatre experience to new performers and audience. And I hope the next producers would begin with the end in mind, so that in the midst of difficult times they can get back on track easily.

DRAMA

3 Words of this year:

Crazy,
Diverse, Dramatic

Most memorable event:

Everyone found it hilarious when Luong played a female character and wore a tight, black dress in Cultural Night and even more so when people realised that the chemistry between Yang Sheng and him was actually pretty good.

Any outstanding member:

Not really one particular member, but the committee as a whole really surprised me in a good way. They have so much potential! They took direction pretty well and some of them certainly exceeded my expectations :-)

Shannen Tan
Drama Head 13 / 14

Goals that your band has achieved this year:

For me, it was really hard to balance between being the Drama Director for DP as well as being the Head of Eusoff Drama. I was just really glad to establish a general interest towards Drama in Eusoff Hall and debunk the myth that Drama and Theatre is inaccessible to the masses.

Your vision for the comm and next year's head:

To continue raising the bar for Eusoff Drama and harness potential!

ELIXER

3 Words of this year:

Beating,
inspiring,
awesome.

Goals that your band has achieved this year:

By ahead planning, Elixer achieved all goals we set at the beginning of this year. We performed at Eusoff Cultural Night which is the first whole group performance since the weekly trainings for the new members. During January of 2014, Elixer stood for Eusoff Hall joined Encores, Combine Halls Ensemble Concert. It was the first combined concert targeted for instrument cultural groups. Cooperating with many other instrumentalists from other halls and Utown, Elixer presented a fascinating show to the audience. We also did our first music video. And as an annual event on the calendar of Elixer, we performed for the NUS Open House 2014 to show Elixer power to people in campus and potential members. Besides all these performances, we also conducted combined drummer training with band drummers by our professional facilitator.

Liao Jia
Elixer Head 13 / 14

Most memorable event:

The most memorable event of our comm was definitely Encores, CHEC(Combined Halls Ensemble Concert). It was the first CHEC and it was the first time Elixer had such a stage to perform!

Any outstanding member?

I have to say all our members are outstanding! A heartfelt thank you to them all for their sacrifices and efforts in making sure everything ran smoothly!

Your vision for the comm and next year's head?

Elixer, as a young percussion troupe, will keep shining and beating. By the new stage of CHEC, next year of Elixer will be busy and promising. This committee will be always aiming to inspire people and strike to be the driving rhythm percussion section in Euosff and campus! Upcoming head will make sure this Committee goes well and takes it to a new level!

Organizational Committees

HALL PROMOTION BOARD

Tan Jo Lin
HPB Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your committee this year in 3 words, do explain and elaborate.

Talented, Creative, Jokers.

I am quite happy with the dynamics of my committee this year as they are a bunch of people who are talented and good at doing things that are delegated to them. They are innovative and creative in their thinking, while at the same time are able to have fun in the process of doing things!

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your committee?

As both our events are held in semester 2, we haven't got the chance to have a "memorable event", so maybe the most memorable event for me would be our video filming for our open house publicity video. It was during those two hectic and tiring days that I saw how much tenacity my committee members had and how much they were willing to stay and pull through difficult times together. That was a very heartwarming experience for me!

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved

I cannot answer yet, because both our events (Open house & Exposure Camp) are not over, but I am looking forward to what my committee can do!

4. Any outstanding member(s)?

All of them are! (Laughs) But if I have to choose one, that member is probably Lionel Tan. I am impressed with him as he is someone who knows how to analyze each situation and come up with a good solution for it. He also sees the big picture in every situation, a rare quality that not everyone possesses.

5. Your vision for the committee and next year head?

I believe that the head should envisage a vision uniquely for his or her own committee so I will not comment on that. But I really hope they will be a bonded committee, one which everyone will be willing to work hard with and for the people around them, because only when we start working together as a team, will we be able to achieve great things!

GREEN COMMITTEE

Trishe Goh, Edmund Tan & Chua Chin Siang
Green Committee Heads 13 / 14

1. Described your committee this year in 3 words, explain.

Winner of Inter-Hall Environmental Awards (IEA). One of our proudest moments this year was achieving our goal and becoming the champion of the IEA. For the first time in Eusoff history, Green Committee has gotten the first place for this competition, and I am really proud of my whole committee who has worked tirelessly for many projects this year.

2. The most memorable event that happened to your committee.

The December Day Camp which we organized to teach children good recycling habits through Art and Craft sessions and games, was featured in NUS news!

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved.

We became the champion of the Inter-hall Environmental Awards for the first time and made our mark in the Eusoff history. One of our many goals was also to instill a culture of practicing good recycling habits in Eusoff. Sadly we might not be able to see a notable difference this year, partly due to limited manpower. But Eusoff Green Comm will strive hard to continue our efforts in the years to come!

4. Any outstanding member?

Kullatep. Everyone's first choice. Our most dedicated member hands down!

5. Your vision for the committee and next year head?

Make Green Comm a prominent, sought-after CCA in Eusoff. Recruit more members who are passionate and would be dedicated to raising awareness about environmental issues and energy conservation.

SPORTS MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE

Tang Heng Yang & Tham Wan Yi
SMC Heads 13 / 14

1. Describe your team this year in 3 words, explain.

A little bit mad.

Our exco did not have many people who were in SMC before and thus, we were quite inexperienced. We also faced more setbacks than expected along the way. However, with our members, we managed to pull through this long journey. The subcomm heads are all passionate, flexible, slightly weird, and knew exactly what they wanted to accomplish. Therefore I would say this team is a little bit mad, in a good way.

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your team?

There is actually no specific memorable event but I hope the rest feel the same way I do about going to any match and knowing that other SMC members will be there, not because it is part of our job, but because we have a genuine want to support Eusoffians and each other. That is pretty memorable for me.

3. Was the team's performance up to expectation?

We definitely met expectations but we wish we did better though. By the way, thank you, Eusoffians, for all the encouraging feedback and compliments!

4. Any outstanding member?

I would like to give a double thumbs up to Sylvia, one of our publicity heads. Despite some setbacks, she still worked with what she had and delivered. She was also not afraid to voice her opinions which helped us work on our flaws. She was not really devil's advocate but we needed that constructive criticism.

5. Your vision for SMC and next year's head?

For the next SMC head, it is a privilege to lead an important committee that will be supporting our sportsmen and bringing everyone, not just the athletes, together in working towards getting our championship title back. Do a good job or not at all. I do not mean to sound so serious. For SMC, give your best in every little thing you do, strengthen the hall spirit, enjoy the process, and then put the trophy back where it belongs.

AUDIOWORKS

Cui Kaiwen
Audioworks Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your comm this year in 3 words, explain.

Technical: It is a committee where you can learn and apply technical skills.

Supportive: Our committee provides support for almost all the events in hall.

Teamwork: Here everyone needs to cooperate with each other well in order for the event to run smoothly.

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your comm?

The most memorable event for Audioworks is the Talent Night, which required us to be proficient in the skills that we have learnt in order to make the event successful.

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved.

The goal for Audioworks is to support all the events in hall. We have achieved this only because of the effort and commitment made by all the members.

4. Your vision for the comm and next year head?

Vision: To be more familiar with all the equipment and to be able to use them more proficiently during the events. Also, we hope to be more professional with our skills.

EUSOFFWORKS

Wang Panjun
Eusoffworks Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your committee this year in 3 words and explain.

Efficiency, Quality, Reputation.

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your committee?

Coverage for DP. To produce the opening video for DP, the video wing had been filming and collecting video footages from all DP related events. On the actual show day, it was really a challenge for us to manage a large group of videographers and photographers, to find the best shooting points, and to get the best possible shots/ video footages. I believe that the members involved in covering DP really gained a lot of experience from it.

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved.

Goals: To capture and archive photo/video memories of Hall events, publicise and promote Hall through social media, and maintain and uphold high standards of production through participation in competitions, ad-hoc events and team training. This is our mission and we have achieved this goal through our usual events coverage, hall website maintenance and design services.

4. Any outstanding member?

Yes, there are quite a few outstanding members in each wing (Photography, videography, design, IT). They are very enthusiastic, responsible and can learn very fast.

5. Your vision for the committee and next year's head?

Continue to be the leading media production and publication committee in hall, to capture the past, share the present and preserve for the future. To better connect different wings in EW and allow for more collaboration among all wings.

6. One thing that you wished it could have been better in your comm?

To better connect the four wings in EW, especially between design, IT wings and the other two.

7. How does your committee contribute to the larger Eusoff community?

It is EW that captures and preserves the memories for Eusoffians. We connect the past, current and future members of the Eusoff community.

PUBLICATIONS

Zhu Yueyue & Zhang Huizhong
Publications Heads 13 / 14

1. Describe your committee this year in 3 words. Explain.

Young, enthusiastic and international. Most of the members are freshies but they have many good ideas for improvements of the Yearbook! New sections are included in this year Yearbook due to their suggestions and it is really great to see our members so engaged in every process of the publication. Moreover out of 20+ members we only have 2 Singaporeans so we are really a committee full of foreign talents so to speak.

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your committee?

We ordered lots of food for our first meeting and after that there were still leftovers even though everyone was already so full so some members had to bring back and try to finish the leftovers.

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved.

Our objective every year is to publish the Yearbook and as you are reading this we certainly have achieved our goal.

4. Any outstanding member?

I would like to commend Huizhong. She only joined Publications in Sem 2 as the second Vice-head but she certainly made my job much easier especially since our head was away on exchange.

5. Your vision for the committee and next year head?

Keep up the passion for delivering a good Yearbook to each and every Eusoffian! This is not a very interesting job so it is important that the head and vice-heads remain focused and self-motivated all the time in order to inspire the members.

CULTURAL EVENTS MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE

Chloe Lee
CEMC Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your comm this year in 3 words, do explain and elaborate.

Diverse, ambitious, optimistic

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your committee?

I think it would be Talent Night because it was our biggest event. Our aim was to improve audience participation, entertainment value and the scale of the event, and I am very proud to say that we managed to achieve what we wanted. It was memorable because it was an event that involved a lot of collaboration with other committees and Eusoffians themselves as both audience and participants. My committee was very glad that they gave us their unconditional and utmost support. More importantly, it was unforgettable because we saw how Eusoffians came together to put up a good show. Even if they were not performing, the support from the audience was overwhelming and we were very grateful for that.

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved.

People are not aware of CEMC because there is not enough publicity, so one of our goals is to make our committee more prominent. I want Eusoffians to know what my committee does and our contributions to hall. I feel that we have already achieved that goal. We tried very hard to publicize our committee while publicizing our events. During CCA fair, my subcommittee heads and I tried to promote upcoming events. We went around sharing with people what CEMC does. I think we started off with a right mindset and it led us all the way till now. The second goal was to improve audience participation, entertainment value and the scale of our two events. I am very proud to say that we have achieved it and we were grateful for all the positive feedbacks we received after the two events.

4. Any outstanding member(s)?

Special mentions go to my publications head, Cheryl Tare because she is an extremely positive and driven person. She is also outstanding because her contributions to the committee are not subjected to her delegated job scope. She takes the initiative to go the extra mile and help out and I really salute her for that.

5. Your vision for the committee and next year head?

I hope that all our efforts put into publicity for our committee will not only continue, but aspire to greater heights.

6. Any other things that you would like to share?

My vice and I were not in CEMC last year so in a way, we did not have any experience. There were a lot of things to find out like for example, the problems encountered last year, how to execute some aspects of the events, what are the important features of the events, what other committees to approach etc. But I was very glad I had Khai Jhin and Vivien Liew in my committee. They gave us a lot of support by sharing with us what had been done before and where we should set off. I am very thankful for both their help and the opportunity to learn from their experiences.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS COMMITTEE

Li Ruoxi & Evangeline Kwok
IRC Heads 13 / 14

1. Describe your committee this year in 3 words and explain.

Refreshing, steady, potential.

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your committee?

HALLOWEEN - We worked together and made it a success!

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved:

Goal 1: To be a platform where international students meet locals and share experiences and cultures unabashedly - to some extent because the activities planned helped everyone to come and learn something new about festivals or culture.

Goal 2: To make exchange students feel warmly welcomed into our community - Can be better worked on as we continue to plan activities and outings for them to truly experience Singapore.

Goal 3: For IRC to grow and members to share the vision - Can be improved on but it will take time. IRC needs to continue to press on, and for leaders to step up!

4. Any outstanding member?

Jia Jing - The SUPERWOMAN Freshie of IRC this year! and Kullatep - A quiet but really dedicated worker!

5. Your vision for the committee and next year's head?

To integrate the communities in Eusoff so no one gets left behind. Hopefully, upon passing on the baton, the spirit of community and the importance of keeping the true ONE EUSOFF family will be carried on through the years. One needs to have the love for people, no matter how different :)

6. One thing that you wished it could have been better in your committee?

Perhaps, a smoother handover at the committee head level which will allow for an earlier planning phase and a more successful implementation.

7. How does your committee contribute to the larger Eusoff community?

We make sure that no matter which end of the world one may come from, each Eusoffian will find a place called home in Eusoff and also, will be immersed in the cultures of others, no matter how foreign.

STUDENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Ang Huili
SAC Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your committee this year in 3 words, do explain and elaborate.

Fun, sacrifice and love

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your committee?

I think it was the packing of welfare packs. Service is not always easy but the distribution of welfare pack was particularly fun. We shocked the people in Shengshiong with our purchases and then turned the rag area into a mini factory.

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved.

Once, we had to juggle hall awareness week and formal dinner and mail duties and special supper, all in a week. All these made it really hard to launch brand new initiatives. But then again the goal of this committee was service and making the life of Eusoffians better. Through all these periodic activities I hope the goal has been reached.

4. Any outstanding member(s)?

Everyone helped whenever they can and put in their best. But if I really had to name, I think the logistics committee headed by Kenny Lye did a really good job. They were always efficient and next to never failed to turn up for a meeting or an event. Kai Wen was also a great help because he always availed himself and even when he has a lot on his plate, he still tries to prioritize SAC. He has a really good heart. Very commendable.

5. Your vision for the comm and next year head?

I started with an aim to make SAC more widely known. I feel that with special suppers and other events, awareness has already been heightened. My next aim would probably be to make SAC an enjoyable CCA. This may sound very self-centered in part on the CCA. But I feel that the 'compulsory' activities that we need to do as part of SAC, are already targeted at serving and improving welfare of Eusoffians. Only when we make the CCA more fun and improve its reputation, we can then attract enthusiasts to come and really make a change. It's taking small steps with a bigger picture in mind.

6. Any other things that you would like to share?

Difficulties encountered would probably be manpower issues. Everybody takes up so many CCAs and it's hard to have a meeting where everyone is free of CCA related activities. Eventually you just have to learn to make do and find the best date or inform them really early and get them to commit to the date. But due to the nature of SAC activities, it is really hard to plan ahead. Also, being a year one SAC head is not easy. I don't get people asking me if I had trouble organising some event. Instead, their reason for asking was always because I was a year one. It's hard to get any event up to people's standards because they already undermine you from the start and you need to do more to impress them and to show that a year one can do it. Of course being a year one means that you are new to a lot of things in Eusoff and I would really like to express my gratitude to Evangeline and all the seniors in SAC who have helped me tremendously along the way.

SPECIAL PROJECTS TEAM

Lim Nian Deng & Petrina Chew
SPT Heads 13 / 14

1. Describe your committee this year in 3 words, explain.

For Eusoff's Bonding

2. What was the most memorable event that happened to your committee?

One of the events that we organized is the End-of-Semester party. However because it was near the finals, the turn-out was disappointing as everyone was busy preparing for exams. The event was organized for 100 people but only about 10 showed up. At first we were disheartened, but we did not give up just then. With the help of those who showed up, we went down block by block to invite more people to join us. In the end, we were able to have about 60 + people down with us. Even though it is not what we had planned for, the people that came down had lots of fun and laughter, and we received many positive feedbacks on the event. Even though we did not reach our goal, I am glad that at least we provided the few who came down with a much-needed break to renew their motivation to study for finals.

3. What are the goals that your CCA has achieved this year? Reasons for having (not) achieved.

We achieved outstanding sales for our Bash and Night Cycling event. The tickets for Night cycling were sold out in just one day as compared to a few days the previous year. Furthermore, the adjustment in the route of the night cycling was well received and even weak cyclists enjoyed the ride thoroughly.

4. Any outstanding member?

Tan Bao Fang - She is very enthusiastic. She has a lot of initiative and always contributes great ideas to the team. Seraph - She is very helpful and always tries to support the committee in any way she can. Jing Jie - He is very dedicated to his job and never lets the weight and problems of his job get to him.

5. Your vision for the committee and next year's head?

Always remember the big picture of what this committee stands for.

A BLOCK

Tan Yu Feng
A Block Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your block in one sentence

We are a huge family.

2. What are your block's most distinguishable traits?

No senior-junior divide, spontaneity, united and A DISCO BALL IN THE LOUNGE!

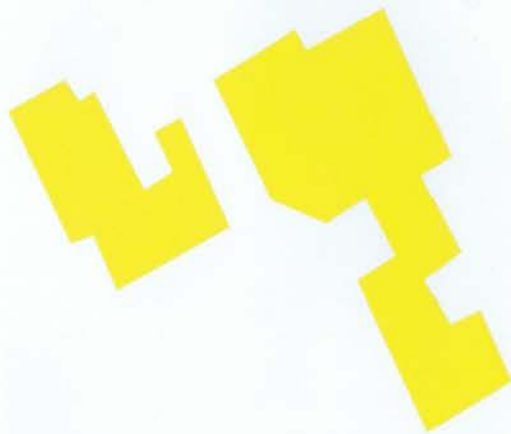

3. Share with us some memorable or funny moments.

There was this one night before night cycling where somebody suggested going to Sentosa to drink on whatsapp and the response was huge. In a matter of minutes everybody was talking about it and we managed to gather 17 people who were interested in the outing despite having lessons the next day. We drank, shared stories and sang at the beach till the sunrise. We continued with night cycling the very next night- which I believe A block had the highest number of turn outs despite fatigue from the night before. It was one of the most enjoyable nights we had as a block. Sentosa has since become one of our common hangout places.

4. What would be this year's most notable achievement?

It would be bridging the junior-senior divide. This was one area I wanted to address as a block head and I am glad that with the help of many of the friendly seniors, the juniors felt really welcomed and started opening up. We spoke to them like friends and everybody started opening up, which really helped to dissipate the junior-senior barrier. It is really heartening to also hear from people of other blocks that they heard that A block is really united!

Stephanie Tan Chern Wei
B Block Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your block in one sentence

B(EST) BLOCK EVER! :D

2. What are your block's most distinguishable traits?

What I love most about B block is that it gives a very welcoming and warm (alliteration HAHA) feeling. We may not be the loudest or highest people but I think that we are still close in our own special way (: everyone is genuine and friendly to each other. Also I think our suppers are very fun; we had awesome stuff like sushi and choc fondue :D The best thing that happens during supper is that everyone will just stay and chat with one another while eating, which makes me very happy (Y) even though we made too much noise a few times and the security uncle had to come to warn us hahahaha.

3. Share with us some memorable or funny moments.

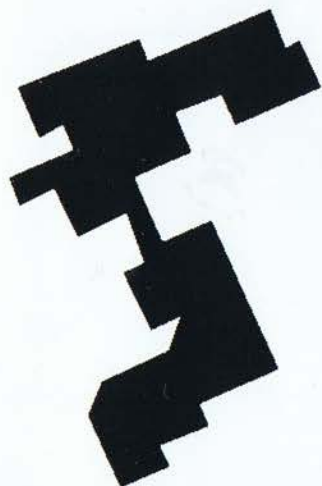

There was a period where we had quite a few birthday celebrations consecutively for a few days. Heh I think we made quite a lot of noise, so there were some complaints. The super exasperated security uncle actually came and asked us, "why do you always have birthday?" HAHAHAHA.

And also during IBG, a lot of people showed up to support those who were playing. I think we cheered super loudly! Even though we may not be the sportiest block, we still try our best! (:

4. What would be this year's most notable achievement?

Winning Talent Night!! Everyone really put in loads of effort into preparing for it, staying up till unearthly hours to put up a good show. So I am really glad all their hard work paid off (‘:

Ruth Ong Yi Jing
C Block Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your block in one sentence

Full of Cute Boys and Chio Bus (henceforth referred to as CBs).

2. What are your block's most distinguishable traits?

Apart from housing 3 ex-JCRC presidents along the forbidden corridor, C Block is home to individuals with many talents. Many of Eusoff's sports legends such as Big Twan, Poseidon Li as well as last year's Senior of the Year (Keevin) reside here - not forgetting the 2 members of the Chan Dynasty. In the non-sporting domain, we also have skilled DOTA players in the Vietnamese LAN shop who undergo similarly intense training.

3. Share with us some memorable or funny moments.

The most memorable moment in my opinion, is coming in 2nd for IBG. Coming in 2nd for something (especially one which seems so infinitesimal and redundant) might seem way less than impressive to many. However, being there and seeing how the seniors - despite being so talented at their various sports - willingly took part in the games alongside the freshies who were mostly greenhorns to many of the sports was truly a heartwarming sight (-': The 3 trophies standing proudly in our lounge were won by everyone, and even though we came in second, we are number one in my heart (-':

4. What would be this year's most notable achievement?

Tennis (M) Captain Marcus and the Vietnamese demonstrated their prowess off the tennis/table tennis/takraw courts to emerge champions of the inter-block pool competition. Like they always say: "?@!&-insert string of unintelligible words here-*^%7, VAI LONNN!" It is really heartening to also hear from people of other blocks that they heard that A block is really united!

Thank you C Block, for letting me be the roof above your heads <3

Chan Huan Jun
D Block Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your block in one sentence

On my darker days, I look to them, and it's as if the sun comes out from behind a cloud.

2. What are your block's most distinguishable traits?

They're very enthusiastic about food. The freshies frequently prompt me about supper. They seem to be very concerned that we don't let the block funds go to waste. My seniors pretty much support me as we all drown together in school work in a sign of solidarity because my freshies pretty much believe in a work life imbalance. The most distinguishing feature? We really do know how to have fun. Like dangerous amounts of fun. Security-guard-summoning amounts of fun.

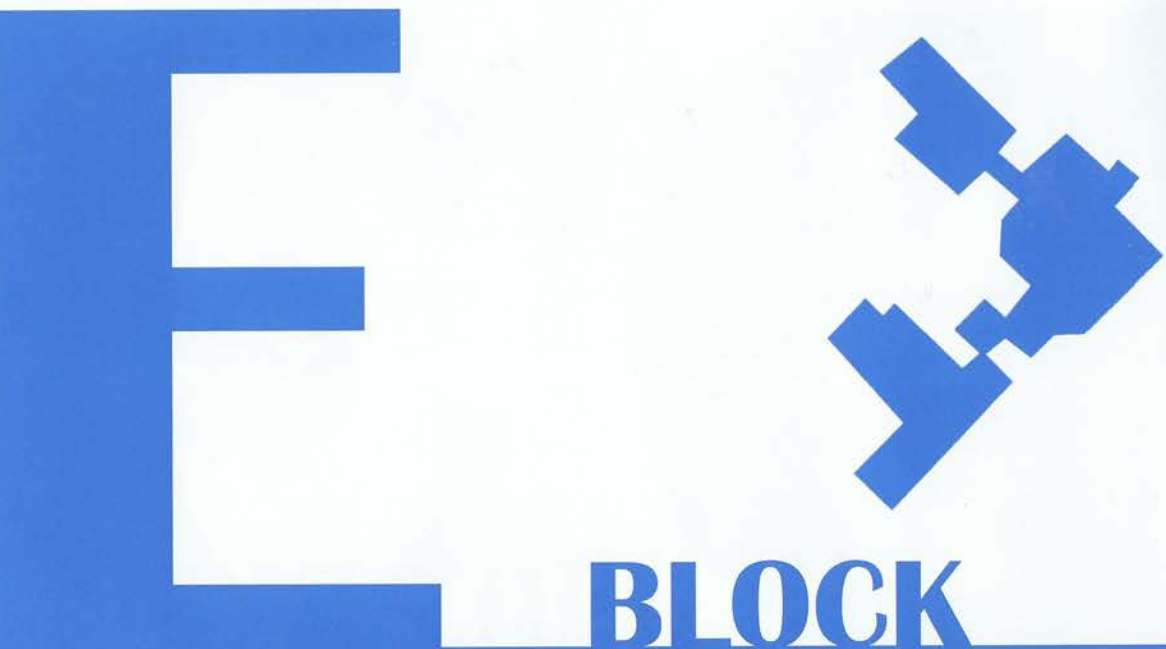

3. Share with us some memorable or funny moments.

Our block performance. You should have the video somewhere. It required approximately 3 days of practice and was choreographed during the wee hours of the morning in the grand total of an hour. I think to describe it as spectacular, would be stretching it. However, I will not deny that we've probably permanently traumatized the ones who bore witness to our little offering. Dancing in boxers can be an immensely liberating experience.

4. What would be this year's most notable achievement?

I would like to commend my Dreshies. I have never had the privilege of associating with a more enthusiastic, crazy, welcoming bunch of people in my entire life. To be able to bond among yourselves in such an inclusive way as to generally avoid most forming most of the insular little cliques that tend to coalesce in other blocks; this was no effort of mine, the credit is really all yours. Good job, Dreshies! You have made this block head really really proud.

E BLOCK

Nathalie Rachel Fernandez
E Block Head 13 / 14

1. Describe your block in one sentence

E Block, the block where late nights are our mornings.

2. What are your block's most distinguishable traits?

There's always someone for everyone. It doesn't matter if you're a little more quiet, or a little nosier. There's always someone for you.

3. Share with us some memorable or funny moments.

It would be winning Takraw for IBG even though we didn't have a single Takraw player in our team. It was pure Euphoria. On that note, it was the same for most of our IBG games. Even if we didn't have the experience, the determination put in by the E blockers made us number 1.

Graduating Students

Thank You Eusoff

Bryan Wong

It all started back in August 2010.

Unsuspecting freshman entered Eusoff Hall.
He moved into his room, A112.
Dont know what to expect out of hall life,
Dont know what will hit him in the coming year.

He had 2 friends, Shaun and Malcolm.
Neighbours turned buddies.
He soon started meeting his other block mates.
Their names were Melissa, Ivan and Joan
Little did he know,
this friendship bonded into something so bitchy,
something so strong.

CCA fair came.
What should he join?
Came out signing up for Expeditions, SMC and Green Comm.
Expeditions became his first true love.
There he met other like-minded freshies,
Twan, Eng Ping, Aaron, Muhaina, Wantian, Dennis, Phuc
and dedicated seniors like Lynette and Chin Ping.
More friends, more attachments.

First IHG season started in January 2011, he never understood why it meant so much to the seniors.
why are we so desperate to win,
must we?
at the end of it all,
it was indeed all worth it.
the dedication, the effort, the blood, sweat and tears.

thats the beauty of IHG.

Year 2 came,
JCRC became his life.
Had great mentors such as Renji, Jiakai and Kenny
Formed the best team he could ever ask for.
Nette, Melvin, Alston, Val, Cheryl, Ankur,
Ivan, Sarah, Syak.
9 others who shared the same vision as him
9 others who wanted the best for the 480 other residents living together.
G.E.L, T.E.A, Photocopying Machine service from their hearts.
Brought back the IHG title,
Amazing Dance Production,
Chingay,
wholesome year in Eusoff.

HPB became his other baby.
Thankful for the support from Master and Office.
Another chapter written in history.
Hunger Games V.1
Amazing juniors joined the team.
Andy, Shawn, Shuling, Clareen, Afiqah,
Julia, Jiali, Kaijie and many others
Paved the way for future batches in the name of hall promotion

August 2012,

he made the toughest decision in his short but fruitful hall life.
left behind his friends and flew to USA for a whole year.

He returned August 2013,
re-entry was tough.
But he had his group of bantering friends,
Keevin and Scott
and new neighbours,
Gang Yi, Twan, Phuc, Aaron, D Chan
Life was easing back.
Took a bold step into the realm of DP,
first ever acting experience,
no regrets.

Tonight marked the end of his Eusoff Life.
Gala Night,
a night where he spent with friends he made over the 4 years
and the new friends he made this year.
Sitting at the table,
having a meal together
felt like Year 1 all over,
but this time round,
its us who is letting go.

This 4 years in Eusoff,
has been nothing short of amazing and memorable.
Thanks for the memories,
Thanks for the experiences,
Thanks for the friends,
Thanks for the people.

Thank you for the Eusoffian of the Year.
I am extremely honored and especially humbled.

To the graduating seniors,
its been 4 beautiful years.
I wouldnt have asked to take this path with any other group.
We may have experienced winning and losing,
but its because of such experiences,
that made this place we call home,
so endearing,
so beautiful.

To the juniors,
Eusoff give you space to grow.
Dont be a jack of all trades,
and master of none,
When you're a senior,
you have a role to play.
Make that impact in your field.
Treasure the people,
treasure the memories.

Its been 4 outstanding years,
and for that,

Thank You Eusoff.
