386 POWER, 2 MB MEMORY AND ACCESS TO THE WORLD'S LARGEST MICRO SOFTWARE BASE

The PowerMate SX from NEC. All you need to increase your productivity dramatically, cost efficiently.

It is equipped with Intel's new 386SX microprocessor (16MHz) which offers 32 bit power to run emerging 386 software, yet it is also capable of running existing 286 software.

Even its memory storage is a feat, 2MB of RAM standard, expandable up to 16MB. Allowing you room aplenty for multi-tasking OS like OS/2 or Xenix. It comes with a 1.2MB 5¼" floppy drive and a choice of 42 or 140MB hard disk drive, giving more capacity for data storage.

Its varied capabilities include wordprocessing, spreadsheets, financial analysis, presentation graphics, database management, desktop publishing, network communication and mainframe communications.

Combined with the NEC Multisync II high-resolution colour monitor, the PowerMate SX from NEC is power at your fingertips.

THE CREST

The crest's main features are an orchid, an eagle and an open book.

The orchid, a vanda Miss Joachim and the national flower of Singapore, is a hardy but delicate flower symbolising stalwart Eusoffian traditions of loyalty, dignity, integrity and honour to hall and nation, balanced with harmony, beauty and grace. The retention of the orchid reminds Eusoffians of the origins of the hall's traditions in Eusoff College.

The eagle symbolises the indomitable spirit of all Eusoffians, as well as an indefatigable desire to attain honour and excellence in all their pursuits.

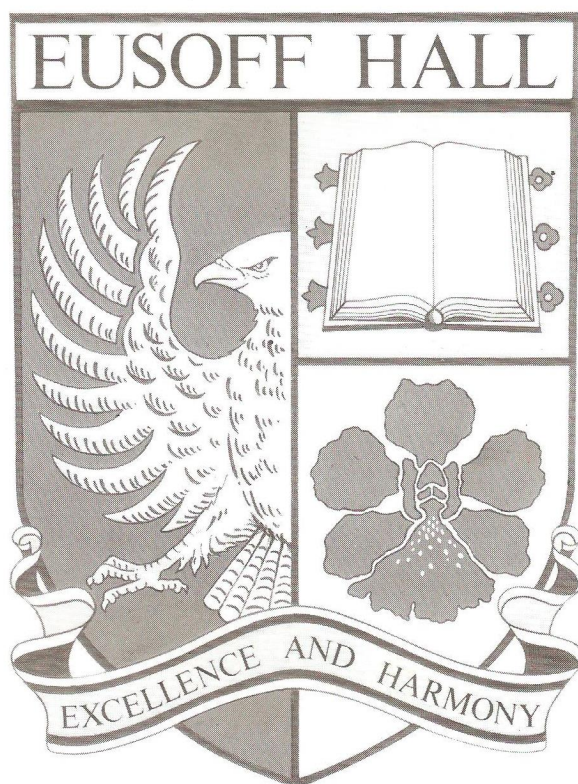

Finally, the open book symbolises the unquenchable thirst for knowledge and academic achievement which all Eusoffians seek, a conviction in keeping with the aims of the University.

The colours of the crest are maroon to signify courage, gold to signify magnificence and white to signify sincerity.

An important feature of the crest is the Hall's motto Excellence and Harmony, which is explained below.

THE MOTTO

Excellence and Harmony describes the desire of all Eusoffians to aspire to achieve excellence in all their endeavours, be they academic pursuits, community work or cultural and sporting activities. Yet, the motto is also a reminder that these aspirations are to be accomplished in harmony with the people we work and live with, in harmony with nature, in harmony with the world we live in.

Eusoff Hall

Eusoff College : Nassim Wing

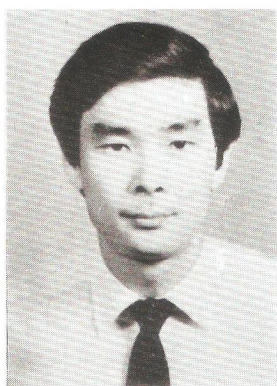

The hall of residence is one of the best places on campus for the University undergraduate to develop academically and socially outside the lecture room. There is a good mix of foreign and Singaporean students, freshmen and seniors, and students from all faculties. Living, playing, studying and interacting in such an environment, students become better-rounded and gain a broader outlook on life.

Residential life provides many opportunities to take leadership roles in Hall committees, in organising sports and recreation activities, and in community service. I would urge all Eusoffians to participate fully in the life of the Hall and give your best not only to your studies and self-development but also to consider how you can contribute to the well-being of those less fortunate than ourselves.

On this auspicious occasion of Eusoff Hall's opening I congratulate the Master, Fellows, staff and residents and wish you all an exciting, challenging and rewarding career ahead.

WEE KIM WEE
PRESIDENT
REPUBLIC OF SINGAPORE

On behalf of all Eusoffians, I wish to express our gratitude to our President, Mr Wee Kim Wee, for kindly consenting to officiate in today's opening of Eusoff Hall. I also wish to thank the University's Pro-Chancellors, Vice-Chancellor, Deputy Vice-Chancellor, guests from the university administration, faculties, other halls of residence, Eusoff alumni and other well-wishers for your presence today.

Eusoff Hall is a new hall of residence of the NUS which commenced operation in June 1988. It has been built at a cost of about $10 million and provides modern on-campus accommodation for 485 university students. Construction work on the new Eusoff Hall began in January 1987 at a time when construction costs were low. Consequently the budgeted funds could be stretched much further to provide top quality finishes and facilities. I wish to sincerely thank the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Lim Pin, and the Deputy Vice-Chancellor, Professor Huang Hsing Hua, for their efforts in providing Eusoffians with these magnificent buildings and facilities.

While the hall may be new, in terms of traditions it is the continuation of Eusoff College, a university hall of residence for women founded in 1958, situated in the old campus at Bukit Timah. A new crest has been designed for Eusoff Hall, incorporating the symbols of the orchid and the open book in the original crest of Eusoff College and adding to them the symbol of the eagle. A new anthem has also been composed.

Eusoff Hall has adopted as her motto, "Excellence and Harmony". We aim to achieve excellence in all our endeavours. However, it is our desire that such excellence should be achieved with harmony — harmony of mind and body, of man and society, of learning and application. In the context of multi-racial and multi-religious Singapore, this ideal of excellence with harmony is all the more significant and imperative.

May the Eusoffians of today and tomorrow carry on the traditions of caring and excellence which the Eusoffians of yesterday have now passed on to them!

Assoc. Prof. Andrew Tay

In the Principal's message for the souvenir magazine on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of Eusoff College in 1983, I ended by saying "The future of the College is uncertain but while it exists the residents, JCRC and SCRC will continue to maintain its corporate life with a sense of pride in belonging".

The future of the college is now certain although the name is changed to Eusoff Hall, in order to be in line with the other halls of residence on campus. In 1987 the residents of Eusoff College petitioned for one of the two new halls of residence then being built to be named Eusoff Hall for the sake of Eusoff College, there was a great sense of rejoicing that another aspect of the University history will be preserved. The retention of the name, however, is not all. The Eusoff College JCRC and the majority of the members of the SCRC moved with the student body to Eusoff Hall, thus ensuring that the traditions and spirit of Eusoff College are kept alive.

The original Eusoff College itself continues its existence off-campus. Its character is inevitably changing, though it is still occupied by students of NUS, since the number of the residents is greatly reduced and they consist to a considerable degree of special students and post-graduate students whose stay varies from a few weeks to a few months. We are all the more glad that the off-shoot of the College, Eusoff Hall, is alive and well under its young and energetic Master, who has been the Vice-Principal of Eusoff College for four years immediately before his present appointment.

This again ensures that the spirit and traditions of the old College will live on. However, just as the old College is changing, so will Eusoff Hall. It already has a new crest, motto and anthem. This is as it should be. My hope is that the Eusoff spirit of caring will continue to be nurtured and traditions that uphold the spirit of adventure and good fellowship will remain, whatever may be added or allowed to fade away.

We at Eusoff College wish our brothers and sisters at Eusoff Hall all the wisdom, courage and perseverance needed to live up to their fine motto "Excellence and Harmony".

It is something special to be a part of a Hall. I remember especially, the excitement of preparing for our annual projects. Each resident was involved in one way or another. The whole College had a carnival atmosphere for weeks. No one would imagine they were University students, everyone pursuing a course of studies. I also remember examination time. All the residents were tense and sensitive to the slightest irritation. The making of pancakes and coffee for 200 very appreciative, hungry, swotting residents was fun!

I like Eusoff College with its central quadrangle, but here in Kent Ridge campus, Eusoff Hall has so much more, especially, the romantic stars and the moon; I wish for all residents that their stay in Eusoff Hall will be the most memorable part of their University life, and that at Eusoff, they will be able to find opportunities to develop socially, culturally and emotionally.

Eileen Aw (Dr.)

Student Health Service

Even as I write this message for the souvenir magazine to commemorate the opening of Eusoff Hall at Kent Ridge, a deep feeling of nostalgia overtakes me, and I go back to Eusoff College as it was in the late sixties and the early seventies. It is from Eusoff College that Eusoff Hall gets its name and I suppose that eventually the Hall will replace the College altogether. But to the many cohorts of young women who lived in that College at Evans Road, it will continue to be a very special place with very dear memories, no matter what. Eusoff College will not be forgotten simply because the name "Eusoff" will keep it alive, and it is my sincere hope that what Eusoff College stood for will continue to be part of Eusoff Hall.

Eusoff College was distinctive in that it was for many years the only hall of residence within the University of Singapore where the residents were totally female. It set the tone, lent something singular to the campus, in character, through its activities, its life style, its rounded outlook and most importantly by the spirit of the young women who became part of it. Two events still stand out very vividly in my mind. The first. For its tenth anniversary in 1968, the Prime Minister, Mr Lee Kuan Yew and his wife were our guests of honour at dinner and without any reservations, I can say it was a wonderful evening for all. The other event. In 1969 as part of the nation-wide celebrations of the 150th year of the founding of Singapore, Che Puan Noor Aisha, the First Lady and wife of the first President of Singapore Yusof Ishak, honoured us by her presence and unveiled a specially commissioned sculpture created by a young sculptor, Ng Eng Teng. It represents the women in Eusoff College and in essence is symbolic of all women in Singapore - Malay, Chinese, Indian and Eurasian - cohesiveness of our society. It still stands at vantage point, for all to look at as they enter the College's foyer.

Eusoff Hall, though it is similar to the other halls on campus in that it is a mixed male-female Hall, will, I am sure, be distinctive in its own way and will provide the kind of experience in corporate living which its residents, present and future, will be proud to look back upon in years to come. Here let me add one more thought. What Eusoff Hall becomes, what it stands for, will depend on what the young men and women who gain admission into it, put into it. I warmly wish the Hall every success and my congratulations to the Master, the SCRC and all the residents on this official opening of Eusoff Hall.

Nalla Tan.

Dr Nalla Tan

Fellow Eusoffians,

It is with great pride and nostalgia that I pen this message to you. It has been a long time since I was a student and a resident of the hall but I can still remember the great days that I had. University days are memorable days but one of my fondest memories is being a Eusoffian.

I remember the good times of the hops and annual balls, and stressful times of examination fever and growing up blues. I remember huddling with friends late into the night discussing our goals and aspirations. I also remember the rapport and camaraderie among Eusoffians through those eventful years. Sweet memories are made of these!

So while you are in the hall, do make the best use of the opportunity to develop yourself, to make friends and to have a merry time. Take time off to participate in the activities organised for you. In time to come, like me, you will recall with fondness the time spent at Eusoff.

When you graduate and leave the hall, let this not be the end of your association with Eusoff. We need to keep in touch with old friends and to get to know the younger Eusoffians coming after us. I therefore have the greatest pleasure to invite you to join our NUS Eusoff Alumni which we are now in the process of registering.

May I conclude by wishing all of you the very best in your endeavours and I hope to see you all soon in our Alumni activities.

Highlights of Eusoff Years

Eusoff was just stone walls and red bricks when it was built in 1958. It was to house women undergraduates under one roof. The name was somewhat of a paradox because it belonged to a man. Dr. Haji Mohammed Eusoff, a member of the Carr-Saunders committee, played a substantial role in the foundation of the then University of Malaya.

In November 1958, Eusoff College was officially declared open by Mrs Maude Scott, one of the earliest graduates of Raffles College. Eusoff College then became the home of 211 promising young women from Malaya, Singapore and the surrounding region.

The first principal was Dr. Ruth Wong and under her dynamic leadership, Eusoff was no longer just stone walls and red bricks. She laid the foundation - of the kind of spirit and values to be nurtured. In setting the tone for the college she stressed the importance of responsibility, self-respect, harmonious living and the dignity of womanhood.

The formation of JCRC in 1958 brought with it the organisation of social and sports activities and Eusoffians participated enthusiastically in these. Despite there being strict rules and regulations, amongst them the issuing of late-night passes (e.g. students were allowed to stay out till 11 p.m. only), there was much spirit and liveliness amongst the Eusoffians.

On 2nd February 1959, ten plucky Eusoffians initiated the first raid on Raffles Hall. With much bravado, they stormed the buildings at Nassim Road with thundering firecrackers. This sparked off the first Cracker War which was to become a traditional battle, during examination periods between Eusoffians and the boys of Raffles Hall.

Over the years, a wide variety of ammunition was used such as flour, itching powder, water hoses, balloons filled with water and newspapers filled with starch. There were carefully planned attacks and strategies for defence were worked out. Crackers and missiles would be directed at targets such as the Common Room, the President's Room and the rooms of the very popular girls on F-top. The attackers from Raffles would attempt to steal pieces of lingerie from the Eusoff laundry and sometimes they would succeed and one could then spot a piece of lingerie being held aloft as a flag to signify their "luck and pluck".

How one yearns for those days of courage and heroism.....

1968/69

It was time for reflections and celebrations in 1968/69. Eusoff had reached a milestone - it was ten years old.

Here is an excerpt of what Dr. Nalla Tan had to say of Eusoff, of what it stands for and should stand for;

"I have not been long in Eusoff College as its Principal, but I have seen within its walls, along its corridors, at every meeting place, in every stance, movement and attitude, the qualities of young womanhood which are required for the kinds of traditions that we want Eusoff to be associated with. These are the intangible qualities of honour, integrity, courage, humility and truth - truth and humility above all" "

The programme for the tenth anniversary celebration was spread over three days, and this included a Fancy Dress netball, other games between past and present Eusoffians, a hen party and a forum on "Woman and Tertiary Education". The highlight was of course the grand formal dinner held on the quadrangle, and the presence of the Prime Minister Mr. Lee Kuan Yew, added grandeur to the whole occasion. It may perhaps be worthwhile to recapitulate the speech made by the Prime Minister.

The Prime Minister gave two reasons why if he had to be born a girl in Asia, he would choose to be born in Singapore. Firstly, he felt that other Asian countries have patriarchal societies where male ascendancy is so complete that the female is almost an atrophied social version of the male. Secondly, he felt they are polygamous societies. The situation in Singapore is different because the weight of tradition was not stifling and the fact it was a centre of communication exposed to all contemporary thinking and also because Singapore gave equal educational opportunities and equal pay.

The next point the Prime Minister stressed was that future generations would depend on the genetic quality of the next generation. He also opined that parents especially mothers played a vital role in nurturing and nourishing the child, and that a great difference is made when the mother is educated and when she is not.

With these memorable words, the grand dinner began and everyone had a wonderful evening.

1982/83

This was the year Eusoff turned 25. Naturally, it was celebrated grandly and in style. The celebration lasted 3 days. They were attended by Eusoffians -- past and present. Many past Eusoffians attended the celebration -- some returning from Malaysia for it. One lady even came from Australia just for the reunion.

The events included the registration of past Eusoffians who attended a hen party which was enthusiastically supported by Eusoffians past and present, a mini photo exhibition of Eusoff College's history, a formal ten-course Chinese dinner and past vs. present games.

Changes swept through Eusoff College in 1984/85. A 26 year tradition was to be wiped away. What had once been an "exclusive college for young ladies" was soon to cast its great doors open to young men as well. This great change from an all female domain to a co-educational institution was naturally met with mixed response from the Eusoff girls. Indifference, shock, resentment -- these were some of the reactions. Some felt it would be the end of some of their more "feminine" activities. No longer would they be able to sprawl on the carpet to watch TV. No longer would they be able to wander around in nighties. Also there would no longer be hen parties in the middle of term!

Nonetheless, Eusoff did break tradition and go co-ed. It was in keeping with the times, albeit a little late. No one could deny that for over 25 years, Eusoff had strived to build a reputation equal to any hostel on campus despite its being an all-girl affair. Yet, the change would definitely be a healthy one. Also, Eusoff could now take part in inter-hostel games such as soccer and rugby.

With Eusoff going co-ed, it meant that the student population would increase. The buildings at Nassim Road, which had formerly been Raffles Hall, was the answer to this problem.

Eusoff College was now to have 2 wings -- Evans and Nassim. The 2 buildings separated by a 3 minute walk, were to be run by the same administration. In line with the increase in population, Eusoff went Caterers. The maids could no longer cook food on such a grand scale. In addition, Eusoff was to have its first D&D that year. The theme was "Frivolace".

EUSOFF HALL

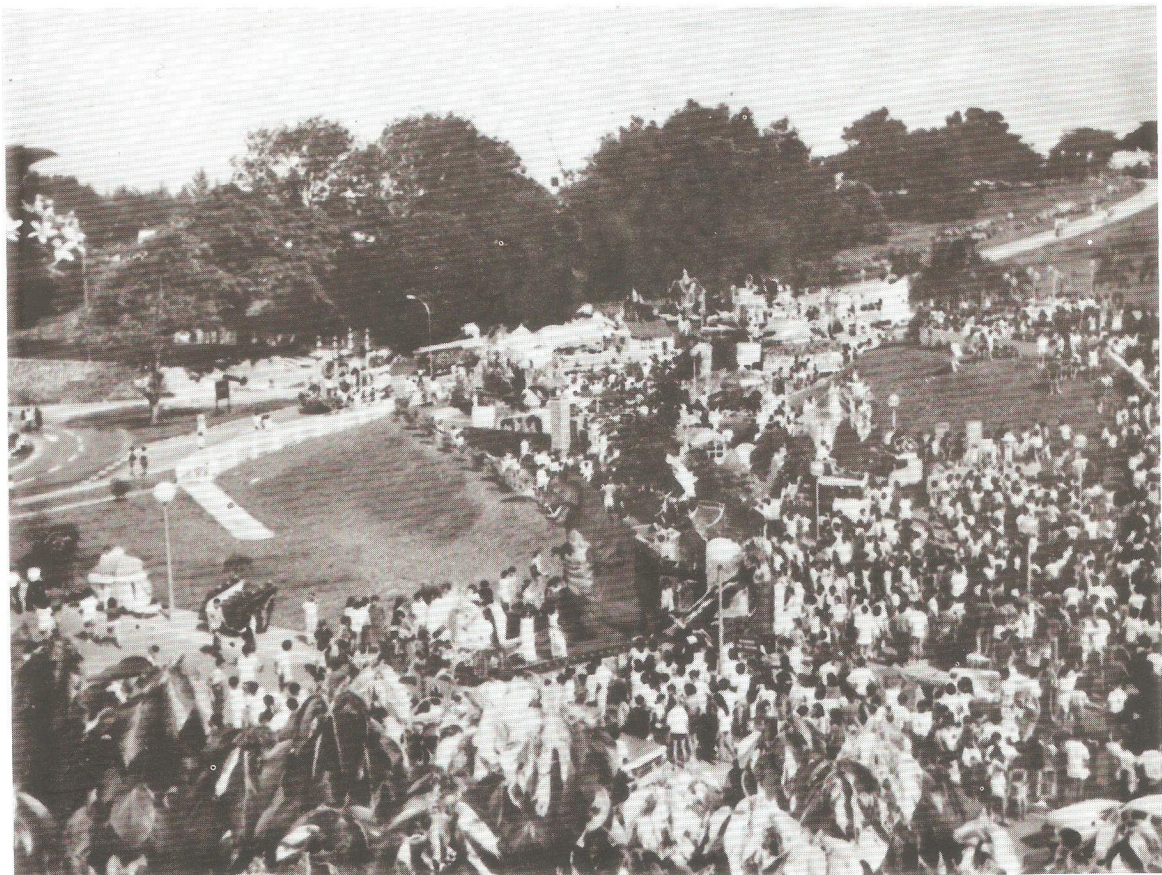

Work on the construction of the 5th and 6th halls of residence of the NUS at Kent Ridge commenced in January 1987. Soon after, it was decided that Eusoff College should move into one of these two new halls. However, the name Eusoff College was changed to Eusoff Hall to fall in line with the names of the other NUS halls of residence at Kent Ridge.

The construction of the new Eusoff Hall was completed in June 1988 and the hall commenced operation immediately. Eusoff has 345 well-designed single rooms and 70 double rooms. There are 5 residential blocks housing 97 students each. In each block, available to the students, are laundry facilities, a water cooler, telephones as well as 2 spacious, furnished common rooms cum kitchenettes equipped with cooking facilities.

One of Eusoff Hall's best features is its comprehensive in-house sports and recreational facilities. Within its premises, the Hall provides 2 squash courts, 2 all-weather tennis courts, an all-weather multi-purpose court that supports games such as basketball, volleyball and netball, and a court for sepak takraw and badminton.

There is also a large games room available that allows for all varieties of indoor activities such as billiards, carrom, darts, aerobics and board games. Other recreational facilities include a cosy lounge with a hi-fi set, a TV room with a colour TV and a video recorder, a reading room, a dance studio and a band room.

The Hall also boasts a fully air-conditioned computer room equipped with about 20 personal computers and printers for the use of residents.

Rag & Flag 1988/89

A VISION FOR THE FUTURE

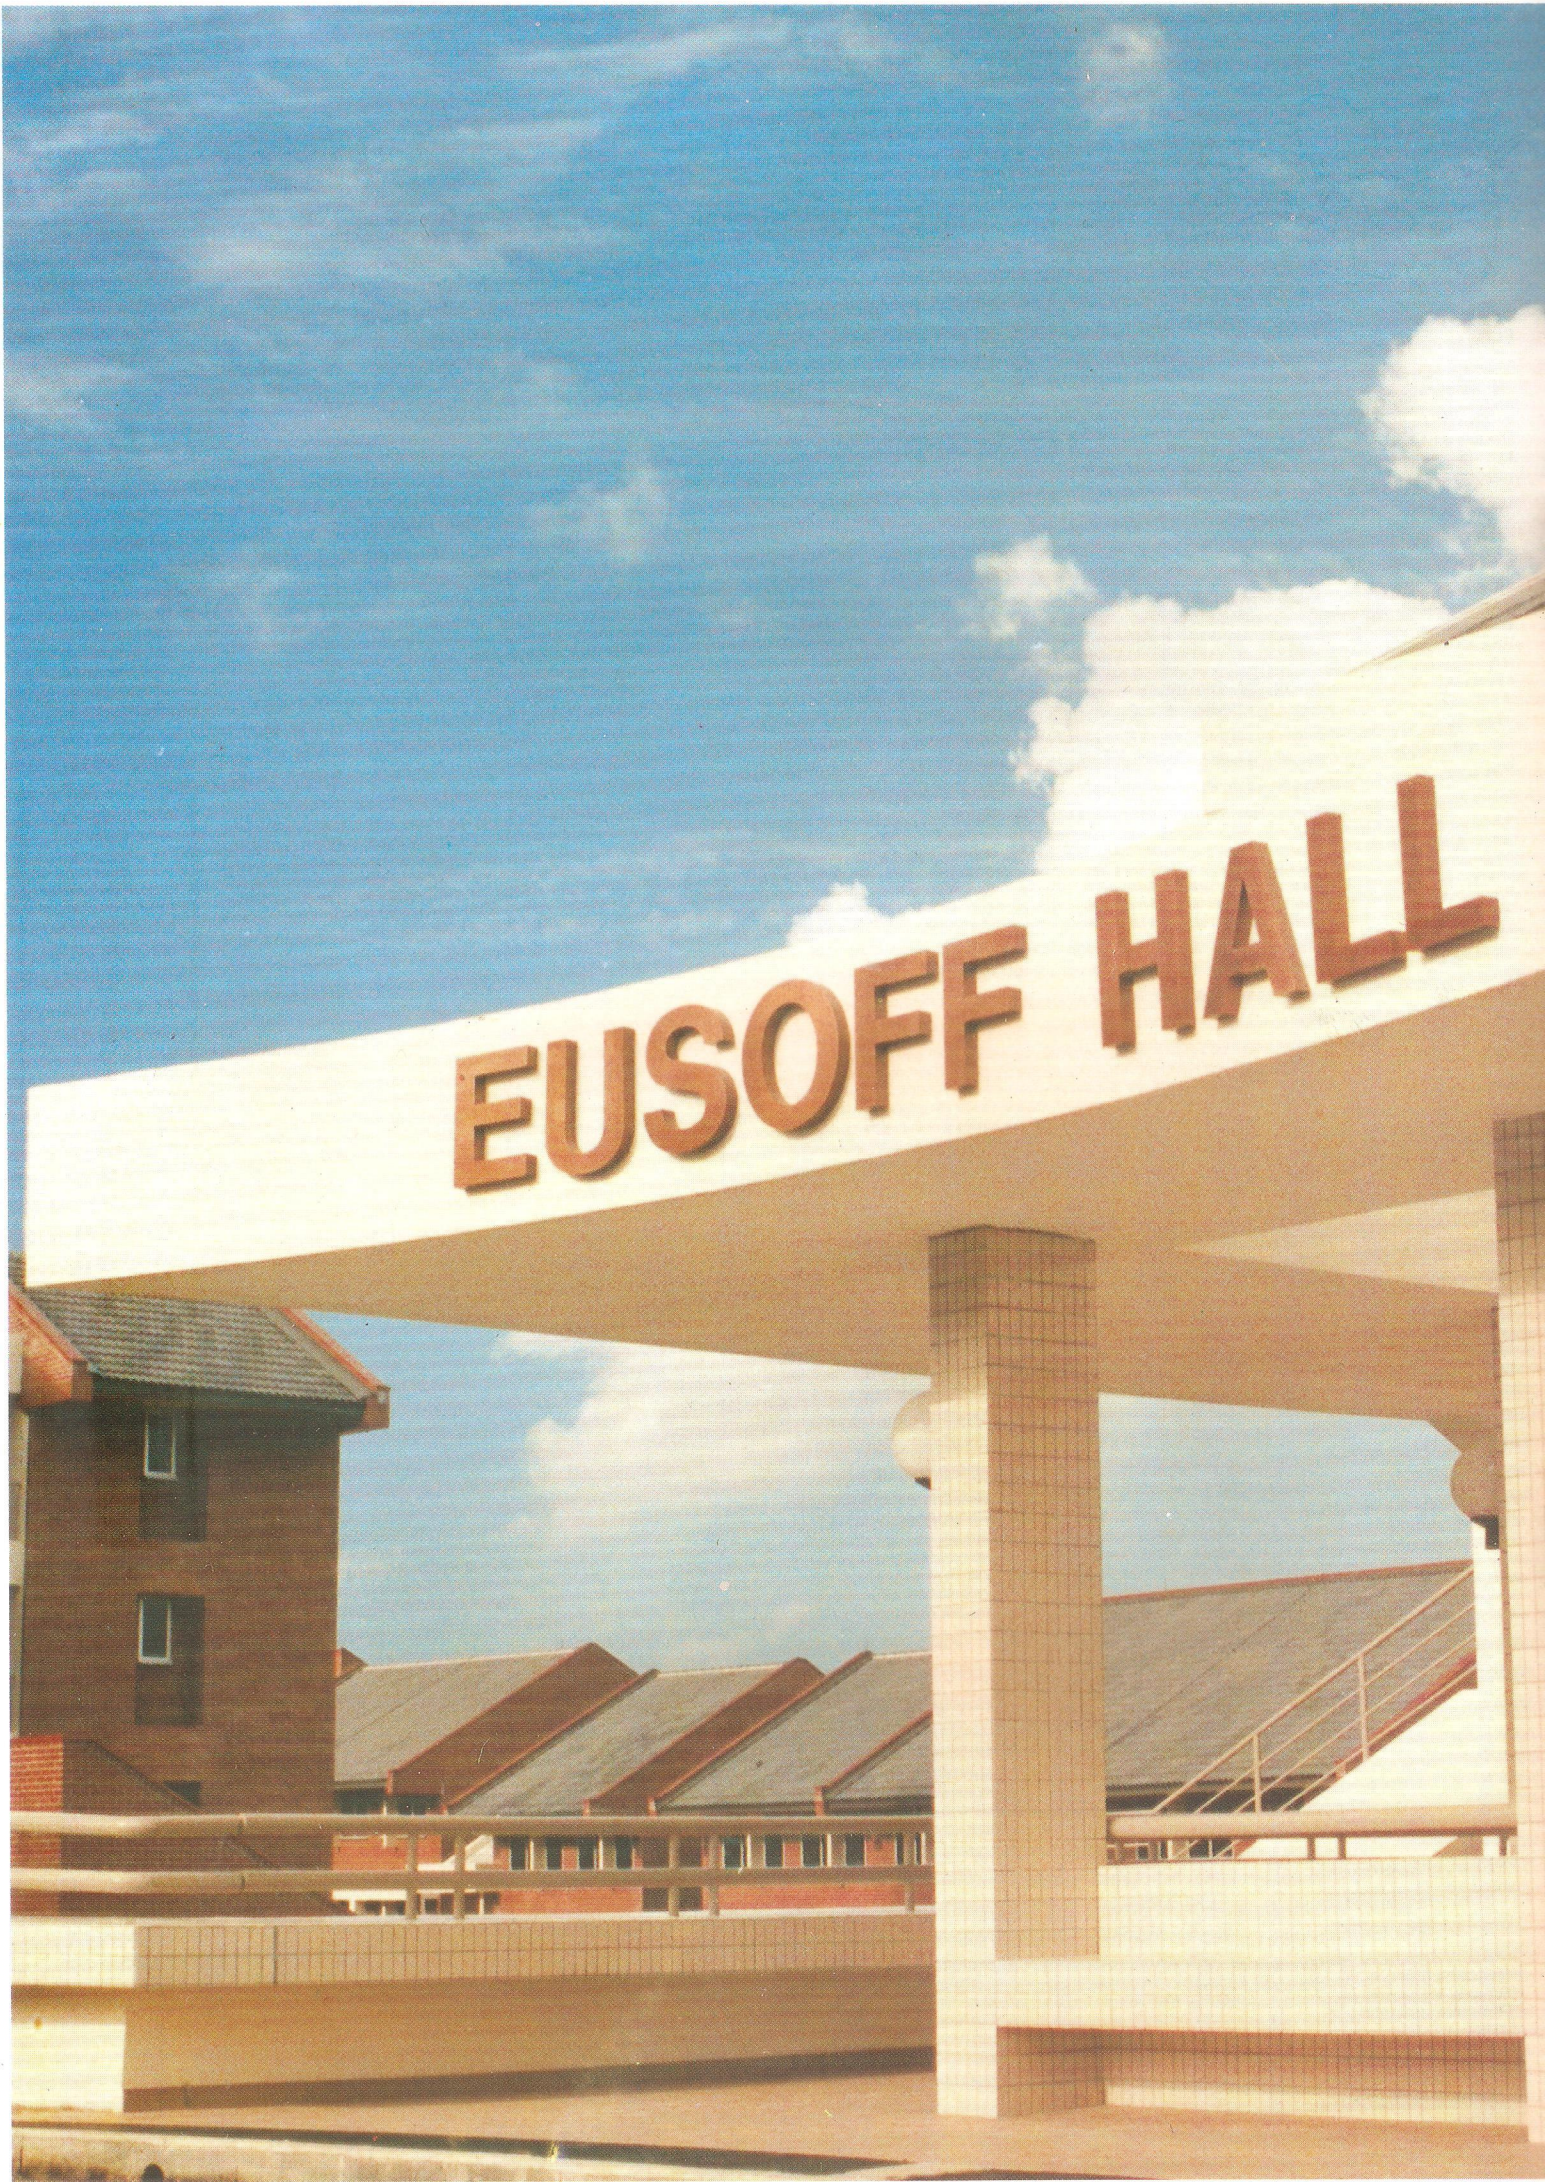

Eusoff Hall is unique: although today is its official opening, it boasts a heritage of 30 years. The benefits to be derived from such an in-built legacy are varied and rich, but it is the JCRC's wish that Eusoff Hall will develop its own vibrant traditions to grow into a hall of its own standing.

The future of Eusoff Hall lies solely in the hands of its residents. The waters are as yet uncharted, and neither will the sailing always be smooth. But whatever is to come, Eusoff Hall must find its own identity, and develop its own character and personality, building on its rich heritage, yet forging a path of its own.

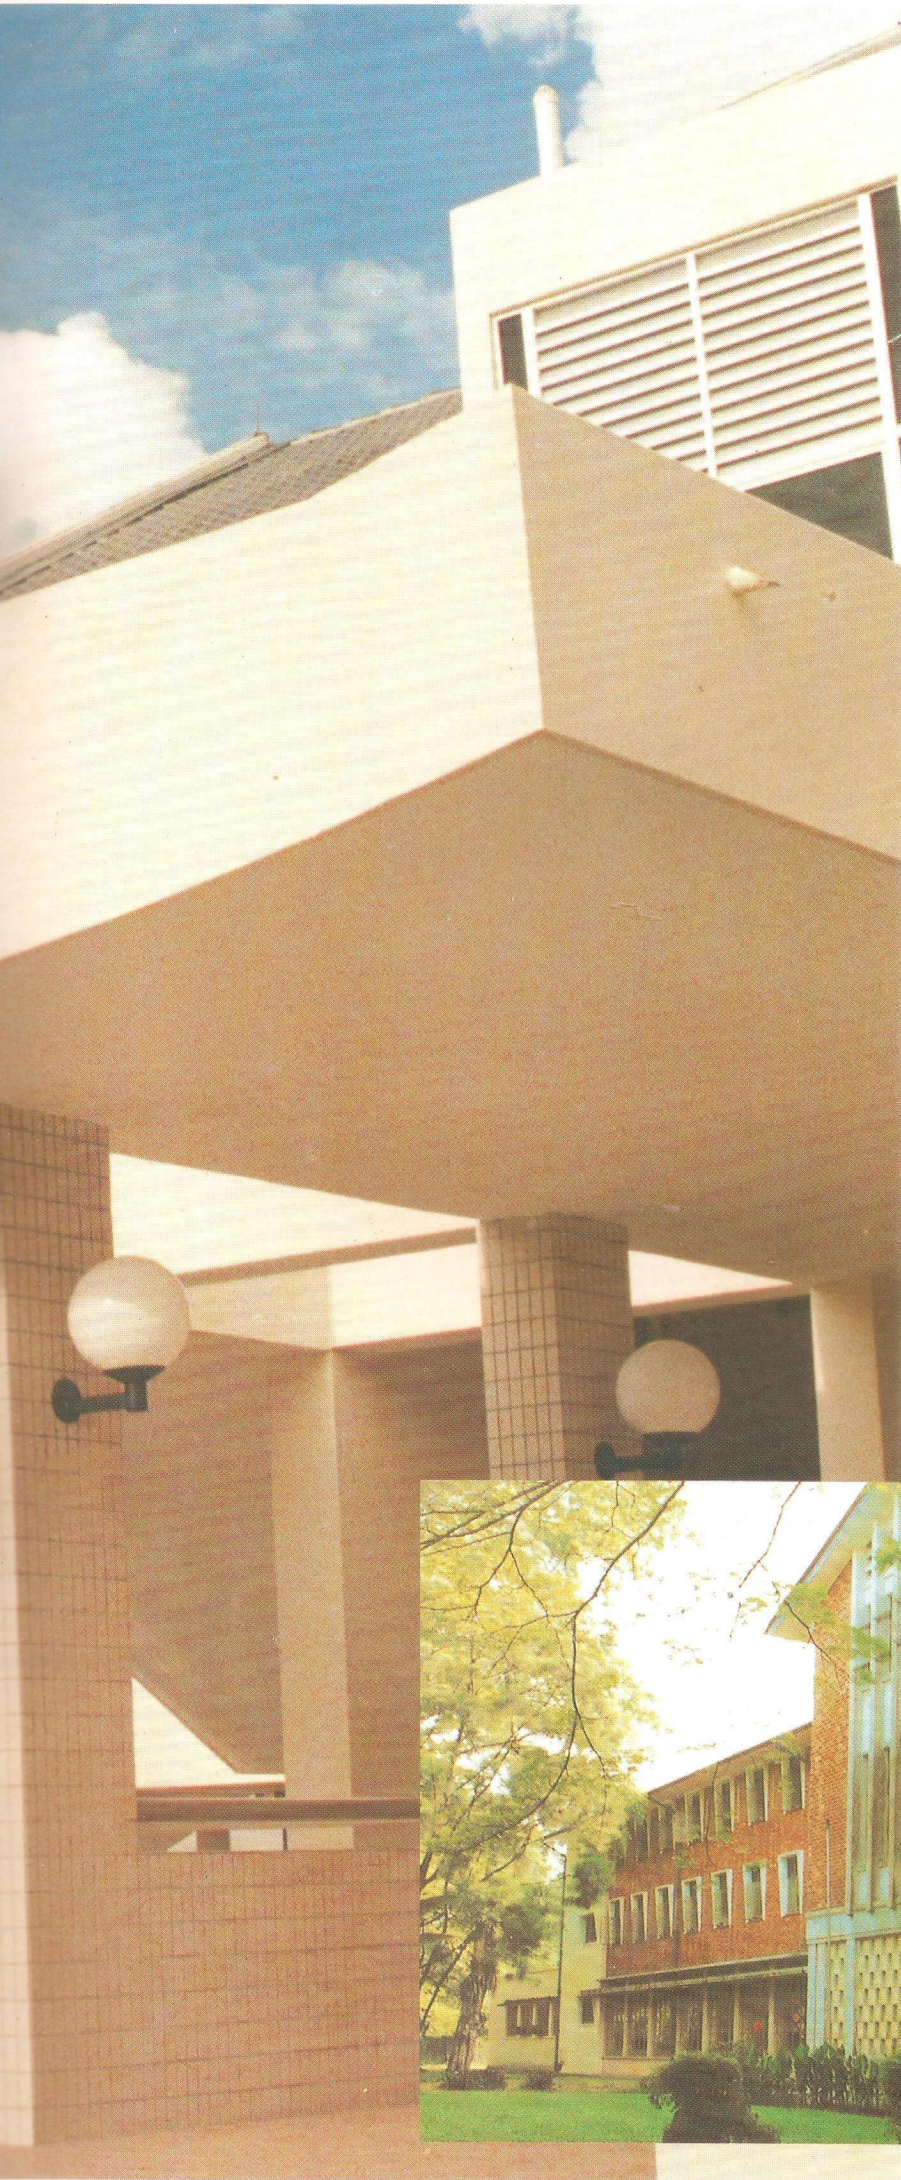

In terms of contributions to the University and society at large, Eusoffians should strive to excel in all areas: in academic endeavors, in community service, in the arts and in sport. In doing so, we also hope that each individual will be provided with the opportunity to develop to his/her full potential. As for hostel life and living, it is the JCRC's wish that the residents of Eusoff will continue to live in harmony with one another. To these ends, the JCRC and their committees will continue to serve.

Communal living is such a tremendous opportunity for all of us to explore and realise our hidden talents and capabilities, and in the process, to have the time of our lives. At the heart of this is the Eusoffian Spirit, which, translated into affection, loyalty and pride for our hall, adds meaning and depth to our lives. May we all invest as much as we get out of being Eusoffians; and with our endeavours, may Eusoff Hall continue to prosper and grow in the years to come.

IN THE BEGINNING

As one of the first batch of freshmen in Eusoff Hall last year, I was quite unaware of the rich history behind the word "Eusoff". My initial reaction to the hall was thus totally in terms of the building itself : the striking brick and cream combination was both warm and welcoming.

The impressive range of facilities struck me next. An air-conditioned lounge and TV room; a well-equipped games room; tennis, squash, badminton and multi-purpose courts? The place began to take on holiday resort proportions.

Did I say holiday ? Well, put it down to a freshman's ignorant bliss. Orientation soon put things in perspective. It started innocently enough.....

.....with a warm welcome from the senior gentle(?)men.

...my daddy says I must go to bed early

Orientation was a rewarding and enlightening experience. We were encouraged to take a strong stance when we became part of the Eusoff family.

We were taught to be loyal to the hall

..... and to show respect to our elders and other important things like proper dinning etiquette.

A high point of the orientation programme was the Inter-hall Telematch, where freshmen and seniors alike cheered Eusoff.....

..... on to victory.

And so I became initiated into "the Eusoffian Way".

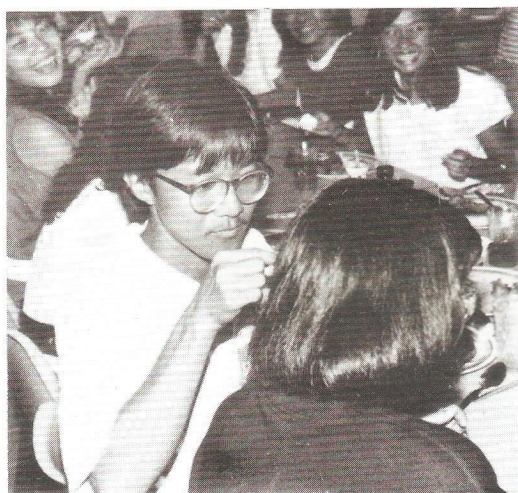

The old Eusoffian spirit was more tangible now than ever before. Where I had scoffed at the very idea of such a nebulous notion at the beginning of my stay, I could now actually describe it. At the mere mention of the words "Eusoff Hall", a sense of pride, loyalty, true fondness and fierce protectiveness surfaced.

Today, Eusoff Hall is making her mark on campus as a hall to be reckoned with, be it on the sports field

..... or on the cultural scene.

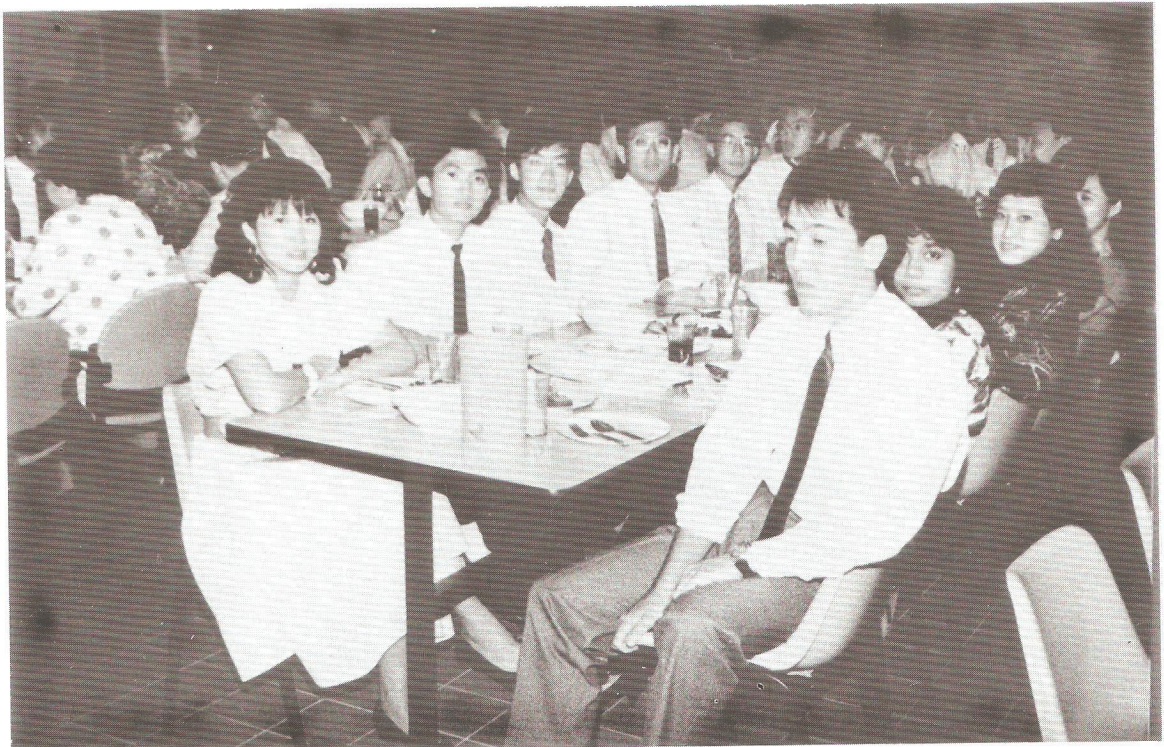

Meanwhile, hall life continues at full swing with activities such as grooming courses

And of course, much of hall life revolves round food: at formal dinners

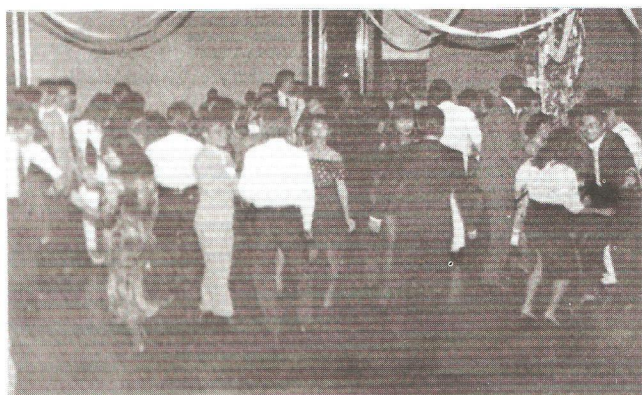

..... block suppers

..... and Maggie mee spreads

The highlights of the hall calendar included the Grand Open House

the annual dinner and dance

and the celebration of Eusoff's 30th Anniversary

which was held in conjunction with the inauguration of the Eusoff Alumni.

*All in all, it was a great beginning for a great hall. Here's to many more good years.
Cheers Eusoffians!*

A Shell Future in Education.

A good, solid education means better jobs, better prospects, better salaries. That's why Shell is proud to do its bit for education in Singapore. Shell is involved in the sponsorship of seminars and exhibitions, vacation and industrial training, supporting various school publications and projects. Shell also awards post-graduate scholarships to deserving students. And at Shell the doors are open to exceptional achievers, for exceptional careers.

It's just a small part to play in Singapore's expansive educational scene, but Shell hopes it will contribute towards helping to make the future brighter for young Singaporeans.
